LOOKING UP.

Police court affairs took a decided boom this morning from every standpoint but a financial one. Perry Noll, James Baily, John Flood, Wm. Crosby and Pete Carroll were booked for drunkenness and in default of $11.75 all of them were sent to jail.

Johnathan Refine, his wife, Susan, and daughter Cora, were out on a high old drunk. They closed their seeance at their rooms over Neunschwander's saloon, on Columbia street, in company with Ed Gorman and Adam Shelly. The orgies of the people are too vile for discription and the language they used was simply appalling. The daughter cursed her mother and the mother her child, while the drunken father made a disgraceful spectacle of himself, as related by Officer Humbrecht. The people were all sent to jail by Mayor Muhler and the curiosity of a lobby of young boys was appeased. Thus runs the story of sin and error.

CULINARY ART

And Other Household Work Taught in the Kitchen Garden.

A SENTINEL reporter had the pleasure of an interview with one of the teachers in the "Kitchen Garden," an institution which was organized some time since by a number of the most prominent ladies of Fort Wayne, for the purpose of instructing children in the different arts connected with the kitchen. It was indeed amusing to see the little ones, with their miniature wash tubs and boards, ironing tables, bread bowls, pans, dishes and everything used in a well regulated kitchen. They meet for instructions every Saturday morning and afternoon, at Anderson's hall, on Broadway, and the ladies are making extensive preparations for an entertainment to be given the latter part of this month.

RAILROAD WRECK.

A Broken Wheel Causes Two Coaches to Plunge Down and Embankment —Serious Injuries.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 12.—A south bound train on the Jacksonville and Southeastern railroad, broke a wheel yesterday while crossing a trestle two miles north of Girard, Illinois, and two coaches were thrown down an embankment of fifteen feet, one being embedded in the mud and water. There were about thirty passengers in the two cars, of which seven were injured.

State Senator E. Southworth, of Litchfield, Ill., was seriously injured internally.

Mrs. Tifft, of Jacksonville, aged and an invalid, was seriously and perhaps mortally hurt.

George Parks, of Girard, was injured internally, and is not expected to live.

L. M. Smith, trainmaster of the Wabash road at Litchfield; was badly cut in one leg.

G. E. Conrad, of Dorchester, hurt about head.

A. B. Wallace, of Litchfield, one whole side badly bruised.

All the wounded were taken to Litchfield, excepting Mrs. Tifft, who remained at Girard, she not being expected to live.

SHERMAN'S TRIP.

The Senator Denies That it Has Any Political Significance—Western Journey.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 12.—Senator Sherman said to a reporter yesterday: "I want you to correct an erroneous impression. While at breakfast this morning, I saw in the Washington Star a long article setting forth the object of my trip to Florida, and stating that it was purely a political trip. The fact is that I have not heard politics mentioned since I left Washington. We were tired out after congress completed its work, and made up a party and started down here simply for recreation. I am out of politics just now. I do not want politics to enter my head for two weeks. I will not say a word about politics until I return. Then I take up the political string, and will hold to it for some time."

CHICAGO, March 11.—A private letter from Washington says that after the return of the Sherman party from its southern trip, a tour of the west and northwest will be organized, and that the Ohio statesman will speak in the principal cities of Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin and possibly Minnesota.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Following are the weather indications:

Indiana, fair weather, stationary temperature.

POWDERLY!

He Proposes to Reorganize the Knights of Labor on a Great Plan.

PAILADELPHIA, March 12.—"Grand Master Workman Powderly was a very sick man at the close of the New York strike," said a prominent labor advocate yesterday. "He was still more cast down when in spite of his orders Knights of Labor attended the Cincinnati convention and the labor party came into substantial being."

"But won't he recover, now that the holy see has decided favorably to the Knights?" was asked.

"That was what I was coming to. He has had blow after blow, but he has had the good sense to see wherein lay the error that brought them upon him. The decision of the holy see has given him new life. As a result the Knights are to be recognized."

"On what basis?"

"On one that will make them the greatest labor body in the world—the only labor body that will be worthy of recognition. The withdrawal of trades unions has cut Powderly to the quick. They withdrew because, under the old plan, a hod-carrier was as apt to be selected to settle a Printers' union difficulty with its employers as a printer. Obviously hod carriers are not well posted on the subject of printing and publishing. The seceding of the unions largely depleted the Knights of their numbers and it took from them the most substantial men that they had. It not only took them away but they attached themselves to the trades and labor unions that grew through the secession out of the Central Labor unions and Trades' assemblies. The trades and labor unions threatened to absorb all the great trades confederations and eventually form a body larger and more powerful than the Knights of Labor."

"But what can he do?"

"Just this. He will reorganize the Knights into trade divisions, the head of [illegible]

The executive board will be the last resort. It will select its own officers. The one-man-power will be done away with."

"This will bring into the fold once morce the unions that went out?"

"More than that; it will bring in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, the Miners' International union, the Sailors' International union, the Bricklayers' International union, the Stonemasons' International union, the Glassblowers' International union and the Brewers' International union."

"But they have always held aloof?"

"Certainly. The reason was that their leaders feared loss of power and salary. But under the new arrangement they will still be at the heads of their organization, and may still be paid the salaries that they are receiving. It's a great scheme, and worthy of Powderly's active brain."

JOHN C. NEW.

The Rumor That He was Stricken With Paralysis is Denied by His Friends.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 12.—Telegrams received at a late hour last night, by the friends of John C. New, contradict the statement made in the special dispatches from Washington to the effect that he was suffering from an attack of paralysis at Riggs house in that city. Mr. New is in good health and left Washington last night for Indianapolis.

Jewish Political Club.

CHICAGO, March 12.—What is probably the first denominational political body to see the light of day in this country has just been started in the Seventh ward of this city under a charter granted by the secretary of state. It is called the "Hebrew Political Club" and is composed exclusively of Hebrews in good standing in the local synagogues. It starts out with a membership of 125, and having no distinctive politics will support such candidates as are favorably inclined toward the Jewish race. Similar clubs are to be organized in all the wards of the city where Hebrew residents are strong, and it is thought that eventually the organization will not only be strong enough to exercise an important influence in local politics, but also to be the nucleus of a national movement to the same end.

AT REST!

The Remains of the Eloquent Divine Laid Away in Greenwood Cemetery.

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 12.—The remains of the late Henry Ward Beecher were taken this morning to the Greenwood cemetery receiving vault, where they will remain until the family select a lot for the final interment.

SPREADING.

The "Nypano" Strike Assumes Huge Dimensions—Protection Asked.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, March 12.—The yard and road crews on the Niles and New Lisbon branch of the "Nypano" struck this morning, stating they would not return until the existing troubles were amicably settled. The yardmen and roadmen on the Pittsburg, Cleveland and Toledo railroad asserted that if an order is not issued to-day putting on the third brakeman all will strike to-night, causing an entire suspension of freight traffic between Pittsburg and Akron, via Youngstown.

Superintendent Kimball, of the Pennsylvania company, this morning called upon Sheriff Walker and demanded protection.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Czar Shows His Cordiality to Emperor William—Count Mirandi Married.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 12.—The czar will send the Grand Duke Vladimir and Grand Duke Michael, together with a large suite, to Berlin on the occasion of Emperor William's birthday as a mark of his cordiality.

PARIS, March 12.—The religious marriage ceremony between Christine Nillson and Count Miranda will take place at the Madeline to-day.

SOFIA, March 12.—A Russian, named Beloof, recently brought bands of Montenegrin desperadoes, numbering fifty each, into Sofia, with a view of creating an insurrection. The plot was discovered and Beloof and a portion of his followers decamped. The others were arrested and have confessed that they were paid to come and do what they were instructed to do. A list of the members of the government party was found in Beloof's lodgings.

RUSTCHUK, March 12.—Two more of the leaders in the recent insurrection have been sentenced to death and 125 other participants in the revolt have been [illegible] an earthquake was felt throughout the city yesterday. For a time there was a general panic and hotels and the bourse were emptied of their occupants in a very few secouds. People were, however, soon reassured. It is found that many walls of buildings in various parts of the city were cracked by the quake.

RANGOON, March 12.—Robberies and incendierism by Dacoits are increasing daily throughout the Burmah. One hundred men engaged in railway construction near Mandalay were recently compelled by Dacoits to retire to the capital for protection. When they returned to work it was found necessary to send soldiers to protect them. Ambushed Dacoits recently attacked a body of 270 troops belouging to the Madras infantry and killed and wounded several.

LONDON, March 12.—Snow storms prevail throughout England to-day.

MONTE CARLO, March 12.—The recurrence of earthquakes at different points in the Riviera has induced a fresh rush of frightened pleasure and health seeking tourists hither from Nice, Cannes and San Remo. All the hotels are again crowded.

INDIANA NEWS.

Late Notes of Interest From Various Points in Hoosierdom.

Samuel R. Conwell, an insane person, living near Rogersville, Henry county, left home on Friday morning an can not be found.

The Indiana and Michigan circuit o the American Trotting association will open in Terre Haute from June to the 10th inclusive.

Judgments aggregating $5,585 have been rendered agains the Western hosiery mill at Connersville, and a receiver will probably be demanded.

Hon. G. W. Steel, member of congress, will hold a competitive examanition for a candidate to the Naval academy, at Marion, the 24th of this month.

Fernando C. Klein, editor and proprietor of the Rossville Journal, has been mysteriously absent from home since Wednesday of last week. His family and friends fear foul play.

The Presbyterians of Winchester will begin the erection of a new church in a few days. They have recently secured the services of Rev. Mr. Fowler, formerly of Warsaw, as pastor.

There is such a boom in mesmerism in Elkhart as to interfere with work ing the public schools, and the school authorities have peremptorily ordered, under severe penalty, its discontinuance among pupils.

Rosser McClure; one of the ousted proprietors of the LaFayette Journal, and a force of men regained possession of that property by forcibly evicting J. K. Hill, the representative of H. L. Wilson, who had seized the property. In a scuffle a revolver was discharged, but no one injured, the bullet just missing Joseph Sprague. Mr. Wilson immediately filed papers for replevin, and the paper is now in the hands of sheriff, who, by the consent of the parties, issued the paper to-day. The postmaster, at the beginning of the trouble, was notified by each of the parties not to deliver mail matter to the other. He declined to deliver to either, and telegraphed to Washington for instructions. He was ordered to turn the mail over to a disinterested party, who is to deliver it. Charles F. Williams, editor of the Sunday Leader, was chosen, and now acts as special postmaster for the contesting parties of the Journal.

THE WHEEL.

Notes and Items of Interest For Wheelmen—True Tangent Spokes &c., &c.

John Hanna was the first wheelman to try a spin this week.

Louis Ohnhouse will make a good captain. He is an excellent rider and a clever fellow.

The "New Rapid" catalogue is before us, and its contents represent a handsome line of wheels.

Jack Kuhns has received a Foote's anti-header which he intends to use on his wheel this season.

Jesse Young will sell his fifty-two inch Standard and ride a Light Roadster of modern pattern.

Jesse Evans and Dave Caldwell are looking forward to new mounts. The boys are undecided yet, as to which "bike" is the best.

The fourth annual tour of the Indiana division, L. A. W., will organize at the Murdock hotel, in Logansport, at 6 a. m., Friday, July 8.

The Pope Manufacturing company have added to their Columbia bicycles a new double grip handle, and a saddle representing the "Victor" very much in appearance.

The American Athelete, Vol. 1, and No. 1., has arrived. It is edited in the interest of wheeling and other out door sports. Aaron & Wells, late of the Bulletin, are its managers.

Frank Lightfoot has put new cow horn handle bars and a pair of double-grip ball pedals on his Expert and says he is now ready for wind, sand, bad roads and steep hills.

Kekionga has another well written article in the Wheelman's Record of this week, but in it no clue is given as to his identity. A number of riders are accused, but none convicted.

Don't order your wheels in a hurry. Wait until you see the new Victor catalogue. It will be here some time next week. Harry Keplinger, agent for the Victor bicycles, will have a new 54-inch full nickle, light roadster, in about a week. Call on him at Keil's book store and see it. Finest wheel in the market.

As the riding season is almost here, would it not be a good scheme for some citizen who is friendly to the cause of cycling to offer as a prize a gold badge to the rider making the largest mileage for the coming season, the same as Mr. J. H. Bass offers to the Mystic Angler who catches the largest fish.

The Glee club met last Wednesday evening and had an enjoyable rehersal. A polka composed by George Loesch, entitled "Playing on a Bluff," was beautifully rendered by Messrs. Hanna and Bond. Dave Caldwell sang, "Looking for Sleepers Under the Table," and McClain and Thieme wound up the performance with the familiar duett, "A Broken Flush Was on Her Cheek."

There are some "croakers" who try to cry down Safety bicycles, but it is certain they have come to stay. Although yet in their infancy, the records made on them is a convincing argument to any one doubting the merits of geared up wheels. As to looks that is more a matter of custom. They certainly are more graceful than a tricycle and there are many heavy weight men, though willing to ride, would not take the chances of a header from an ordinary bicycle.

There is as much difference between the Tangent and true Tangent spoke, as there is between the direct and old Tangent spoke. From the fact that racing machines are built with Tangent spokes is evidence enough of the increased rigidity and strength in a wheel, and the same will hold good in road machines. All high authorities on cycles, give it as their opinion that eventually no high grade bicycle will be built without the Tangent or true Tangent spoke.

Louis Centlivre, while in St. Augustine, Florida, pedaled the ocean on one of the new water crafts known as a Marine bicycle. It is made of two slender air tight compartments, ten feet long, held together by three feet cross bars, propelled by crank action, and steered by handle bars like that of a bicycle. They are safe in very rough water and a speed of ten miles an hour can be obtained. Mr. C. was delighted with his ride, and will put one on the St. Joe river the coming summer.

Carl Peter Swain has become quite proficient as a bugler. This morning, Messrs. Evans and Caldwell, who are expert telegraph operators, stationed themselves at the corner of Wayne and Calhoun streets, while Mr. Swain took the club bugle and went out to White's addition, a distance of two miles, from which place he sent the following message by means of long and short blasts on the bugle, which was instantly translated by Messrs. Evans and Caldwell to read: "Fresh keg on tap; tell the boys to come out."

REHEARING DENIED

In The Smith-Robertson Lieutenant Governorship Case.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 12.—The supreme dourt has overruled the petition for a rehearing in the injunction proceedings of Senator Smith against Colonel R. S. Robertson, to decide the lieutenant governorship question, and this finally disposes of a case which has recently occupied much public attention. As is usual in petitions for rehearing, the opinion is written by the chief justice who at this time is Judge Elliott. Aside from reaffirming the former position of the court, that there was no jurisdiction, he touches only upon one point, which was raised in the petition, that being that, that as the injunction was granted by Judge Ayres in vacation, of his court there could be no jurisdiction. This, the opinion says, implies that a court in vacation has greater powers than a court in regular term—a position that is evidently untenable.

There are no dissenting opinions [illegible] by the judges, but with the opinion Judge Niblack sent down a lengthy document, which was entitled "Views of Judge Niblack." On account of the importance of the case, and the misapprehension that exists in the public minding regarding the license of the court, he says that he feels constrained to make the statement that he does. Then follows a lengthy review of the case, incidental to which is a discussion of the electorial commission of 1877, which he says was not a judical tribunal. He adds "Believing as I always have and still do, that the courts have nothing to do in the settlement of this matter, I have not examined the main question with that care and attention, which would enable me to promulgate any fitting expression of opionion. I have refrained from a formal expression of opinion, which might be urged against or brought in conflict with any action the legislature has taken or may take. As a citizen of the state and a member of the co-ordinate branch of the state government I stand ready to acquiesce in whatever that body may do. The present disorganized condition of affairs I can only regret we have no power to relieve by an exression of opinion."

OFFICIAL PAPER COUNTY AND CITY.

SATURDAY, MARCH 12, 1887.

It has been demonstrated that platinum wire may be drawn so fine as to be invisible to the naked eye, although its presence upon a perfectly white card can be detected by the touch and can be seen by the aid of a small magnifying glass when the card is held in such a position that the wire casts a shadow.

It was supposed that bald heads were exhausted as targets for jokes and conundrums, but this odd little saying of a real little girl comes fresh from London. Her father has a small, round bald spot. Kissing him at bed time, she remarked: "Stoop down, posy, dear; I want to kiss the place where the lining shows!"

One of the smallest oscillating engines in the country was made not long ago by a citizen of Baltimore, Md. It is about half as large as a collar-button, and is hidden completely beneath a child's thimble. Its bore is one-sixteenth of an inch, and its stroke one-eighth. The wheel, shaft, and crank weigh eight grains, the cylinder five, and the stand and pillar twelve grains, making the whole weight one penny-weight one grain. Run by compressed air, it makes three thousand revolutions a minute.

Abraham Gould, Jay Gould's brother, formerly lived in Salt Lake, and the Tribune says of him: "Many was the generous act performed by him while here. He had a fondness for surprising very poor people by unloading coal and chickens and turkeys and vegetables in their back yards, and when questioned not knowing anything about the affair. He was fond of assuming to be a man with a bad eye, who could not be approached, except through much red tape, when all the time his heart was as soft as a sick oyster or a boarding-house olive."

Senator Dunham, of the New York State Senate, enjoys the distinction of wearing the finest waistcoat in the State. It was imported by a friend from Vienna and was presented to the Senator on account of his beauty. The waistcoat is a pale olive color, with silk half moons and dancing figures woven in the cloth. And they say that when its owner makes a careful survey of himself in his mirror he remembers the tales about the handsome men of various ages with a smile that isn't out of sorts with itself or the smiler.

Gov. Taylor, of Tennessee, in a recent interview, said: "I notice that there are in prison a large number of children under 15 years of age. It is a shame that Tennessee should not have some place of refuge for these poor little creatures, and not place them among hardened criminals. Judges and juries should not send children to prison, and I shall deem it my duty to uphold the honor of Tennessee by pardoning them. I am confident I will benefit more by this step than by allowing them to remain in a school for crime. I have requested the wardens to prepare for me a list of the names and offenses of every person in prison under 17. They nor any other child will stay there while I am Governor of Tennessee."

Daniel Bedinger Lucas, who has been appointed United States Senator from West Virginia, was born March 16, 1836, in Charleston, Jefferson County, Va. (now West Virginia); was educated at the University of Virginia; studied law, and was practicing when the war began. In June, 1861, he joined the "Wise Legion," commanded by General Henry A. Wise, as his private secretary. He was defeated for Democratic elector on the Greely ticket in 1872, but was elected on the Tilden ticket in 1876, and again in 1884 on the Cleveland ticket. In 1876 he was appointed Regent of the West Virginia University, and in 1880 was appointed Judge of the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit. He has been a member of the State Legislature, and has published several volumes of poetry.

Among those converted during a recent revival at Huntingdon, Pa., was a young newsboy, whose disposition to cheat and swindle his customers was well known in that part of the town in which his beat was located. Having decided to become a Christian, the wicked newsboy went around to the persons who had incurred his hatred and begged their pardon. Then he sold out his interest in a roller-skating rink, which he and several men had purchased, because he believed it helped to aid old Satan in his ungodly plans, and also disposed of his Sunday newspaper list, believing that the Sabbath required his services in more ennobling work. Having done this, he went to the Methodist church, presented himself at the altar, and was taken into the fold.

Take it This Month.

Spring rapidly approaches, and it is important that everyone should be prepared for the distressing effects of the changing season. This is the time to purify the blood and strengthen the system, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which stands unequalled as a spring medicine, and has endorsements of a character seldom given any proprietary medicine. A BUREAU FOR PUFFS.

HOW PEOPLE ARE SUPPLIED WITH NEWS ABOUT THEMSELVES.

Authors, Actors and Statesmen Paying Men to Read for Them—Gould, Field and Vanderbilt—Laws and Statistics. Some Curious Orders.

Every editor knows the man whose attention has just been called to an article in the paper. He is very numerous. Doubtless editors have long wondered if there were not some people in the world who devoted their time to calling the attention of other people to newspaper articles. Perhaps this first suggested to a New York journalist the idea of establishing a bureau for the accommodation of persons who desire to have their attention called to what the newspapers say about them. At all events he did start such a concern and it is now running in full blast. He employed men to read the papers, for folks who don't have a very high opinion of the press never look at the papers and don't care what the papers say about them, and these men keep a lot of boys on the jump all day pasting and mailing the clippings. The list of subscribers is long and includes people in every profession and line of business. The bureau receives all the daily, weekly and monthly publications of this country and the principal papers of foreign countries, and the readers go through about 2,000 every day.

ACTORS AND AUTHORS.

Actors, of course, are patrons of the bureau, and although they are notoriously vain their vanity has a business side. Newspaper fame is a part of their stock in trade, and notices have an actual value to them. The more an actor is talked about the better his chances of getting engagements. And then an actor wants to know what the critics say of his work in order to be able to correct his faults. If he brings out a new play it is important that he should know how it is received. Arists, who are peculiarly sensitive to criticism, want all the notice of their pictures and information about sales, exhibitions, galleries and new collections. Authors are liberal patrons of the bureau. Some of them want personal notices and criticisms, but most of them want articles on topics useful to them in compiling new books.

A great many congressmen discover through the bureau how their votes, speeches and bills have affected public opinion in their districts. Foreign ministers get important information about the countries to which they are accredited, trade relations, etc. During the Cutting imbroglio, Senor Don Romero, Mexican minister, was supplied with 1,820 articles on the affair, and so obtained a complete epitome of American, English and French newspaper opinions which were very valuable to him. The civil service commission is a good customer and gets much interesting reading matter, not always of a gratifying nature.

Jay Gould is profoundly indifferent to newspaper talk and hasn't the slightest desire to see what is said about him. But his partner, Washington E. Connor, is a subscriber, and if the little king of Wall street does not know everything that is said by the press and public speakers about him and his doings it is because he can't read. Cyrus W. Field has his attention called to articles that interest him and doubtless has accumulated a mass of valuable information about movements, revolutionary history, dynamite and patriotism. When William H. Vanderbilt died the bureau furnished to the family 5,000 obituaries and editorials on the millionaire, and, strange to say, there were no rough or ill natured ones in the lot, which must have been a pleasant surprise to the family.

LAWS AND STATISTICS.

City, state and national departments are supplied with decisions, new laws, statistics, comments, etc., and legal reports and other matters relating to practice are furnished to a long list of lawyers. Railway corporations are supposed to be impervious to public opinion, but all the principal lines are down on the books for "newspaper attacks," legislation and everything affecting the railroad business. With most of the subscribers it is pure business. Manufacturers, contractors and builders want to know where work in their line is contemplated and what improvements are made in methods of doing work. A wine dealer wants to know in advance about big gatherings, like Odd Fellows' conventions, public banquets, swell receptions and weddings, so that he may get in ahead of other dealers and supply the champagne. If the king of Dahomey thinks of reorganizing his army some manufacturer of rifles wants to hear about it in time to send an agent over there with samples of guns.

After the Charleston earthquake Maj. Powell, of the United States geological survey, wrote to the bureau: "Clip all criticisms, theories and opinions of value touching the recent earthquake." Two other subscribers, one a famous astronomer, telegraphed to the bureau to add "earthquake theories" to their previous orders, and a queer collection of crankisms he must have got. One subscriber wanted all death notices promptly, and located himself near the bureau to get them as soon as printed in city papers. As soon as he got a death notice he would rush around and try to sell a new kind of mourning card to the bereaved relatives. An enterprising undertaker also subscribes for death notices.

SOME CURIOUS ORDERS.

The bureau gets some very curious orders, of which the following are examples: "Curious surgical operations," "The intelligence of dogs," "Fashion articles describing new dresses on the stage or at balls, or describing the styles of new buttons introduced," "Bank robberies," "Forgeries," "Socialistic fomentations which may lead to riots," "All libel suits," "Appearance of cholera and contagious diseases," "Utah legislation and Mormonism," "Large forest fires," "Woman's suffrage," "Love, courtship and marriage," "Engagements of prominent society people," "Liquor traffic on the Congo and Niger or any part of Africa," "Impure water supply of cities and towns," "Railway development in China," "Chess," "Precious stones," "Water filtration," "Amateur acting," "Bartholdi's Liberty," "Conundrums" and "Grindstones."

Such a bureau is the whispering gallery of journalism. The obscure country paper edifies its readers with a slashing editorial on grinding railway monopolists, and when the editor takes his summer vacation and writes to the superintendent of a big road for a pass all over the country he wonders why he doesn't get it. The explanation is that the president of that road has had his attention called to everything said about his company in the public press.—New York Cor. Philadelphia Times.

The inhabitants of Old Town, Me., are mostly Indians. The chief offices in the city are occupied by red men, who take as much interest in such affairs as their white brethren in neighboring cities.

A DUDE IN TRAINING.

Trying to Clothe Himself with Muscle. Under the Barber's Hands.

It was my privilege the other day to see a dude, not exactly au naturel, but without any of the garnishings that would tone him up and set off his peculiar points to their best advantage. It was an awful sight and it shook my belief in natural selection and the progress of the race until the chimneys all tumbled down and the plastering came off. It was in a place where the poor little creatures go to get themselves improved by gymnastic exercises and where I saw all the secrets of their toilets. You needn't ask me how I happened to be there or how I managed to see all I did see. Just read and be grateful.

Well, about the dude. He was developing his form. And it needed it. I've seen girls pad, who looked about as much like their dressed selves as a Thanksgiving turkey all ready to be carved looks like the strutting lord of the barnyard that he once was. But that was nothing to the transformation there had been in this creature since I had seen him coming down Fifth avenue a few minutes before. He had on the usual attire for athletic exercises and was see-sawing away at some kind of an arrangement for developing the muscles of his arms and chest. His poor little lead pencil neck looked as if a sudden whiff of air would snap it in two, and without the support of his big white collar his ears loomed out like wings. The excuse for clothes that men wear at that kind of work was supposed to fit him skin tight, but they hung around him in such folds and wrinkles, like drapery, that it relieved all my embarrassment in looking at him. His arms were bare, and they were the thinnest, skinniest, sallowest, most worthless looking pair of arms that you ever saw. Let him tug away at his best and he couldn't get up a bulge of the biceps bigger than your thumb. He gave it up after he had pulled and bobbed around and bulged out his eyes and got red in the face for about five minutes.

"Weally, now, you know, I'll have to stop. I'm beastly blown."

The attendant suggested that if he found it too difficult perhaps he'd better not try that form of exercise any more. But he shook his head sadly.

"No, I'll have to keep on, for, weally, don't you know, my tailor has to put so much padding in my clothes it makes me tired to carry it. I must keep up this beastly thing."

They wanted him to take a cold sponge bath, but he shook his head in terror and declared it gave him a chill to think of it, so they took him away into seclusion to rub him down with almond oil instead, and proceeded to dress him.

Later he went to a baber who makes a specialty of beautifying the swells. There they trimmed his eyelashes, pulled out the scattering hairs between his eyebrows, rubbed his face all over with some kind of a gentle cosmetic, curled his poor little pretense of a mustache with an iron, gave his head a perfumed shampoo, extracted some hairs that came down too low on one side of his forehead, spent an hour shaping and polishing his finger nails, and when he was finally ready to come out from their hands what do you think they gave him to take home? It was a machine that looked as if it might be first cousin to a clothes pin, and the fellow was to wear it on his nose at night. He thought his nose was too big for the rest of his face; that if he could only reduce it a little his features would "weally be quite wegulah," and so he was going to put this corset on at night.—Clara Belle in Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Bird's Eye View of the Earth.

If we imagine an observer contemplating the earth from a convenient distance in space, and scrutinizing its features as it rolls before him, we may suppose him to be struck with the fact that eleven sixteenths of its surface is covered with water and that the land is so unequally distributed that from one point of view he would see a hemisphere almost exclusively oceanic while nearly the whole of the dry land is gathered in the opposite hemisphere. He might observe that the great oceanic area of the Pacific and Antartic oceans is dotted with islands—like a shallow pool with stones rising above its surface—as if its general depth were small in comparison with its area. He might also notice that a mass or belt of land surrounds each pole, and that the northern ring sends off to the southward three vast tongues of land and of mountain chains, terminating respectively in South America, South Africa and Australia, toward which feebler and insular processes are given off by the Antarctic continental mass.

This, as some geographers have observed, gives a rudely three ribbed aspect to the earth, though two or three ribs are crowded together and form the Europe-Asian mass or double continent, while the third is isolated in the single continent of America. He might also observe that the northern girdle is cut across, so that the Atlantic opens by a wide space into the Arctic sea, while the Pacific is contracted toward the north but confluent with the Antarctic ocean. The Atlantic is also relatively deeper and less cumbered with islands than the Pacific, which has the higher ridge near its shores, constituting what some visitors to the Pacific coast of America have not inaptly called the "back of the world," while the wider slopes face the narrower ocean, into which, for this reason, the greater part of the drainage of the land is poured.—Popular Science Monthly.

Hint From a Watchmaker.

"People spend a great deal of money needlessly for having their watches cleaned," said a Maiden lane jeweler the other day. "A gentleman living in New Jersey called here one day last week and said his watch had stopped unexpectedly and then gone on again the same as usual. He wanted it cleaned, as he feared that if it stopped again he might lose a train. Most jewelers would have taken the watch, cleaned it and charged him $3 or $4 for the work. The proper thing to do if a watch acts in that way is to take note of the hour, minute and second when it stopped. Then a jeweler can see just where the dirt that has stopped the works lies and can remove it by fastening down the main spring and taking off the balance wheel. Otherwise he should have to clean all the works, not knowing which particular part needed cleaning. I told my customer this, and he had only a trifle to pay for having his watch put in order. If the watch had really needed cleaning all over it is not likely that it would have gone on again after stopping."—New York Sun.

Hairpin Statistics of New York.

The hairpin statistics of New York city are among the most interesting and will furnish food for thought even among the most frivolous. It is estimated that some 345,000,000 hairpins are sold annually in this city, and giving half of this amount to women outside of the city who do their shopping here, leaves each member of the fair sex in Gotham just 345 hairpins a year. Then when all the babies, little school girls who wear their hair flowing or braided in pigtails, and the hundreds of young ladies who prefer shingled locks are counted out, almost double that amount is given each woman with long back hair.

Where do the 172,500,000 hairpins go every year? One would expect to find them scattered all over the town, yet how seldom are they encountered on the sidewalk, and the weekly sweeping at home fails to gather but a half dozen or so, even though a hundred may have been lost in that same house.—New York Journal.

A Great American Accomplishment.

It is quite a trick to jump off a train going along say at thirty miles an hour, and the Americans take a pride in cultivating dexterity in this trick. It takes considerable practice before it can be done successfully. The way to jump is always with the train and on the left hand side of the latter, letting the right foot rest on the step and the left foot swung from the step. Then jump so that the left foot will touch the ground first and the right foot immediately follow it, so as to be able to run. Some of the men jump from the middle of the train or the front, but most of them go to the rear car and jump so that if they fall they will not roll under the cars. A correspondent says: "The best man I ever saw, and the only man who could hold his feet and stop himself without running at all, was Charles Phillips. He could jump from a train running thirty-five miles an hour and stop without running a foot."—Court Journal.

To Toughen Paper.

In order to render paper as tough as wood or leather a plan has been devised which, it is said, effectually accomplishes that purpose, namely by combining chloride of zinc with the pulp in the course of manufacture. It has been found that the greater the degree of concentration of the zinc solution the greater will be the toughness of the paper, and that it is thus serviceable for making boxes, combs, etc.—New York Sun.

Don't Get Caught

This spring with your blood full of impurities, your digestion impaired, your appetite poor, kidneys and liver torpid and whole system liable to be prostrated by disease—but get yourself into good condition, and ready for the changing and warmer weather, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. Sanford, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. Millet, Boston, Mass.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK! High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medecinal bitters.

GREEN B. RAUM, U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Wyshington, D. C., Sept. 24, 1884.

Dear Sir—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The Parents—Good Templars,

Milton, Del., Feb. 10, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev Mrs. J. H. ELLGOOD.

Scipio, M. Y., Dec. 1, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Bubtist church here and an educated physican. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; mad his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. VITIATED BLOOD.

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your Cuticura Remedies, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your Cuticura Remedies a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the Cuticura Remedies, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S Com. J. D. Crawford.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your Cuticura Remedies for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw cured by the use of five bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, Cuticura, and Cuticura Soap. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

TAYLOR & TAYLOR, Druggist, Frankfort, Kan.

SCROFULOUS INHERITED,

And contagious humors, with loss of hair, and eruptions of the skin, are positively cured by Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, and Cuticura Resolvent internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Choking Catarrh

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effo t to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poison—some must surely tell you who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of Sanford's Radical Cure, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent and an improved inhaler, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

BAPTISM OF SINNERS

Rev. Talmage Delivers a Forcible Sermon on Baptism.

BROOKLYN, March 6.—This is sacramental day in the Brooklyn Tabernacle, and the sermon is preached at the reception of 347 new members, making 690 received during the present revival, so that the communicant membership now is 4,051. The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., the pastor, gave the right hand of fellowship to the new members, and baptized about ninety. The audience sang:

Bless be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love.

There was a great arch of flowers over the pulpit, containing the words: "I believe in the communion of saints." Dr. Talmage took two texts: I Chronicles, xxiii, 5: "And four thousand praised the Lord;" and Exodus, xii, 14: "This day shall be unto you for a memorial." He said:

When week before last the communicant membership of this church passed into the 4,000, now reaching 4,051, the first part of my text came to my mind, and I bethought myself what a grand thing it would be if the 4,000 of our communicant membership would, like the 4,000 of the ancient Temple, make it their lifetime business to praise the Lord. Let them all take harp and timbrel and anthem and doxology!

The allusion of my second text is to the Passover, which commemorated the deliverance of the children of Israel on the night when the destroying angel sped through the land of Egypt, destroying the enemy but saving the Israelites, because on the doorposts of their dwellings was sprinkled the blood of a lamb. To-day we come to celebrate a grander Passover, all peril going away from our soul at the sight of the sprinkled blood of the Lamb of God on the doorposts of our hearts. Christ, our Passover, sacrificed for us. "This day shall be unto you for a memorial."

The sacramental Sabbath, whether it comes in an American church or an English chapel, or a Scotch kirk, is more impressive than any other Sabbath. Its light is holier, calmer, sweeter: its voices more tender, its touch is softer; its memories are more chastened. The fruits of the Christian life suddenly ripen like orchards on the hill fronting the south. The wine of the holy sacrament seems pressed from the grapes of celestial vineyards, and the bread broken seems to drop from the hand of Him who parted the loaves for 5,000. We walk to the church of God with more thoughtful face and with quieter step. The jubilant songs of other Sundays are struck through with pensiveness and are all a-tremble with tears; and when at the close of the service, at the door we shake hands, it is with a more cordial grasp, because we feel thrilling through our body and mind and soul the great doctrines of Christian brotherhood; and our minds go back to our forefathers celebrating the sacrament in times of persecution in Scotland among the Highlands; commemorating the dying love of Christ, while they were pursued of their enemies, pouring the wine into rough wooden cups, dipping the waters of baptism from the mountain rock, until one day they heard the voices of their enemies coming up the hill, and the pastor cried out: "Oh, Lord, the Shepherd, have mercy on the sheep!" and instantly there was a roaring heard as of great floods, and sure enough a cloud had burst and there were great torrents running down the mountain side that whelmed their foes with sudden wrath. What a deliverance it was for them on that sacramental day! Oh, that on this sacramental day the cloud of God's mercy might burst and our sins be whelmed and our souls be saved! This is the amethyst of days. This is the pearl of days. This is the diamond of days. This is the day of days. Among the ten thousand million ages of eternity the first Sabbath of March, 1887, will be to you significant and memorable, for "this day shall be unto you" forever and forever "a memorial one."

There is much in the scene of to-day to impress us, because it is a time of re-enforcement. I used to remark that if I ever lived to see our membership reach 4,000 I thought I would be willing to say with one of old: "Now, Lord, lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, for mine eyes have seen thy salvation." But I have changed my mind, and I never so much wanted to stay as now, so as to see them all enlisted for God and to watch their victories. What might they not accomplish in the way of making the world better if they were all baptized with a double portion of the Holy Ghost! Four thousand! That is four full regiments, as military men count a thousand to a regiment. I think not one hypocrite among them. Taken into the church sometimes in large numbers, but each one as carefully examined as to change of heart, and evidence of regeneration as though he or she were the only one presenting himself or herself. Many of our former members have passed away into the skies and have joined the church triumphant, but we have 4,000 more left for the church militant. To arms! Quit you like men! We want no reserve corps among them. Go into action all of you. Some will be officers in command; some will make cavalry charge; some will be sharpshooters; some will stand guard; some will be on picket duty; many of you will belong to the rank and file. Let there be no stragglers, none off on furlough, not one deserter. With Christ for commander-in-chief, and the one starred, blood-striped banner of manger and cross to lead the way, I give the order that the general in the war gave, when rising in his stirrups, his hair flying in the wind, he cried out till all the host heard him: "Forward! the whole line!"

There is also something in such a scene to deeply impress one, because it rehearses a death scene. Now you know, there is something very touching in such an incident. Though you are in a hotel, and it is a stranger that is dying, how softly you move about the place, and if you come up to his couch, it is with uncovered head. Even the voice of the jester is stopped and when the eyes of that stranger are closed it is with emotion. But I am to tell you this morning of a death such as has never before or since occurred. When we die, we die for ourselves and the crises is alleviated by all beneficent ministries. Bathings for the hands, bathings for the head, bathings for the feet; the light turned down low or set in just the right place; all the offices of affection about us when we come to die. But not so with Jesus. He died not for himself, but He died in torment and He died for others. He might have moved around in gardens made by His own hand, an earthly potentate amid vineyards and olive groves sloping to the sea. Instead of being tossed in the fishing boat on Tiberius He might have chosen a sunshiny day and a pleasant wave for the lake crossing. Instead of being followed by an unwashed rabble He might have charmed sanhedrims and universities with His eloquence. Instead of a cross and a bunch of twisted brambles on His brow He might have died in the castle of a Roman merchant, the air bland with lilies and frankincense. But no; He died in torture; the good for the bad; the kind for the cruel; the wise for the ignorant; the divine for the human. Oh how tenderly we feel towards any one who has done a great kindness and perhaps at the imperiling of his own life! How we ought to feel towards Christ, the captain of salvation, on the white horse riding down our foes; but in the moment he made the victorious charge, the lances of death struck him!

There was a very touching scene among an Indian tribe in the last century. It seemed that one of the chieftains had slain a man belonging to an opposite tribe, and that tribe came up and said: "We will exterminate you unless you surrender the man who committed that crime." The chieftain who did the crime stepped out from the ranks and said: "I am not afraid to die, but I have a wife and four children, and I have a father and a mother, and they are old and helpless, and I am the only one that can support them. Let me go back and support my family, and then I will come and die for my people." Then a young man stepped out from the ranks and said: "I have no father nor mother, nor wife nor children, and I am willing to die for my people." Then the chieftain said: "Young man, you are a brave man, and you shall not die for your people, but I will take you back to my wigwam and you shall be my son." Then the old chieftain stepped out from the ranks and said: "I am old and well-stricken in years. I can do no good. I might as well die. My days are almost over. He cannot be spared. Take me." And they accepted the sacrifice. Wonderful sacrifice! you say, but not so wonderful as that found in the Gospel, for we deserved to die, aye, we were sentenced when Christ, not worn out with years but in the flush of his youth, said: "Save that man from going down to the pit; I am the ransom. Put his burdens on my shoulders. Let his stripes fall on my back. Take my heart for his heart. Let me die that he may live." Shall it be told to-day in Heaven that notwithstanding all those wounds, and all that blood, and all those tears and all that agony you would not accept Him?

Was it for crimes that I had done,
He groaned upon the tree?
Amazing pity, grace unknown,
And love beyond degrees.

There is no woe amid the surroundings of that scene that impresses me more than that of His own mother. You need not point her out to me. I can see by the sorrow, the anguish, the woe, by the upthrown hands. That all means mother. "Oh," you say, "why didn't she go down to the foot of the hill and sit with her back to the scene? It was too horrible for her to look upon." Do you not know when a child is in anguish or trouble it always makes a heroine of a mother? Take her away, you say, from the cross. You cannot drag her away. She will keep on looking. As long as her son breathes she will stand there looking. Oh, what a scene it was for a tender-hearted mother to look upon! How gladly she would have sprung to His relief! It was her son. Her son! How gladly she would have clambered up on the cross and hung there herself if her son could have been relieved! How strengthening she would have been to Christ if she might have come close by Him and soothed Him! Oh, there was a good deal in what the little sick child said, upon whom a surgical operation of a painful nature must be performed. The doctor said: "That child won't live through this operation unless you encourage him. You go in and get his consent." The father told him all the doctor said, and added: "Now, John, will you go through with it? Will you consent to it?" He looked very pale, and he thought a minute, and said: "Yes, father, if you will hold my hand, I will." So the father held his hand, and led him straight through the peril. Oh, woman, in your hour of anguish, whom do you want with you? Mother. Young man, in your hour of trouble, who do you want to console you? Mother. If the mother of Jesus could only have taken those bleeding feet into her lap! If she might have taken the dying head on her bosom! If she might have said to Him: "It will soon be over, Jesus; it will soon be over, and we will meet again and it will be all well." But no, she dared not come up so close. They would have struck her back with their hammers. They would have kicked her down the hill.

There can be no alleviation at all. Jesus must suffer and Mary must look. I suppose she thought of the birth hour in Bethlehem. I suppose she thought of the time when, with her boy in her bosom she hastened on in the darkness in the flight towards Egypt. I suppose she thought of His boyhood, when He was the joy of her heart. I suppose He thought of the thousand kindnesses He had done her, not forsaking her or forgetting her even in His last moment, but turning to John and saying: "There is mother; take her with you. She is old now. She cannot help herself. Do for her just as I would have done for her if I had lived. Be very tender and gentle with her. Behold thy mother!" She thought it all over, and there is no memory like a mother's memory and there is no woe like a mother's woe.

I remark again, This is a tender scene because it is a Christian reunion. Why was it that in the sessional meeting when I asked a woman if it were her son who sat next to her, making profession of his faith, she made no answer; but after a moment, trying to control her emotion she burst into tears. I said within myself, she need not tell me the story. It is the old story of a prodigal got back. "The dead is alive and the lost is found." Oh, how many families there are that rejoice together to-day.

These Christians during the rest of the year, perhaps, will not know much about each other. You go in one circle of society, these go in some other circle of society, and this one travels in that path and this one in the other path; but to-day we all come on one platform, and we make one confession, and we cling to one cross, and we gaze upon one death anguish. It seems to me this morning not like a church, but like a great family circle, and we join hands around the cross of Christ and we say: "One lord, one faith, one baptism, one cross, one Christ, one doxology, one heaven!" While I stand here it seems to me as if this communion table, which is only seven or eight feet long, and three or four feet wide, widens until all the Christians of our own denomination can sit at it, and still the table widens until all Christians in this land of all names and denominations come and sit at it; and still the table widens until it bridges the sea, and Christians on the other side of the Atlantic come and sit at it; and still that table widens, until the redeemed of heaven mingle in the communion. Church militant, church triumphant.

One army of the living God
To His command we bow,
Part of the host have crossed the flood,
And part are crossing now.

Again, my friends, this is an absorbing scene, because it arouses so many precious memories. We look back and remember the days of our childhood when, long before we knew the meaning of bread and wine, we sat in the side pews on sacramental days or in the galleries, and looked at our fathers, mothers, and older brothers and sisters sat at the communion. Or, if we sat with them, we pulled at mother's dress and said:

"What does that mean? What is that in the cup? What is that on the plate?" O, yes; we remember those sacramental days of our boyhood. We remember how much more tender father was on that day than on any other day. We remember how mother stood, and without saying one word looked at us, and her eyes got full of tears. Oh, the dear old soul! They have gone! But until the day of our death we will associate this holy ordinance with their memory. And when our work on earth is done we will just go up and sit down beside them in the heavenly church, as we used to sit beside them in the earthly church, and then we will drink new wine in our Father's kingdom.

Behold the saints, beloved of God,
Washed are their robes in Jesus' blood;
Brighter than angels, lo! they shine,
Their glories splendid and sublime.

I remark again: This scene is tender to-day because it is a confessional. You and I remember the time when if a man had charged us with anything like imperfection or wrong doing, we would have thrown ourselves back on our honor and said: "You don't know who you are talking to. I shall resent such an insult to my honor and integrity." We do not feel that way to-day. As we gaze upon the sacrifice of Christ and think of what we have been and what we have done, our hearts melt within us. We see one dying accused for our sin, and we hear Him in His dying words begging for our service, and yet how little service we have rendered. Of this short life we have begrudged God even a fragment. Alas! Alas! Some of us have lived out the most of our days, and yet we have rendered to God no earnest service. Sad, that we could have maltreated Him on whom all our hopes depend. Oh, my brethren and sisters in Christ, to-day join hands with me in a confession before Christ! If there be any place more humble than another, let us take it. If there be any prayer more importunate than another, let us breathe it. If there be any confession more bitter than another, let us now weep it out.

Well might the sun in darkness hide
And shut his glories in,
When Christ, the mighty Maker died
For sins of creatures sin.

Our names will be taken off the church books, or there will be a mark in the margin to indicate that we have gone up to a better church and to a higher communion. Our Father is not going to let his children remain in the dust. The grave is no place for us to stay in. "The trumpet shall sound and the dead shall rise." The Lord shall descend from heaven with a shout and the voice of the archangel and we shall rise. The white robe in which they put us to our last slumber must get whiter. Oh, the reunion of patriarchs, and apostles, and prophets, and of all our glorified kindred, and of that "great multitude that no man can number!" Our sorrows over; our journey ended. It will be as when kings banquet. And, just as the snow of winter melts and the fields will brighten in the glorious springtime, so it will be with all these cold sorrows of earth, they shall be melted away at last before the warm sunshine of heaven.

While I present these thoughts this morning does it not seem that heaven comes very near to us, as though our friends, whom we thought a great way off, are not in the distance, but close by? You have sometimes come down to a river at nightfall, and you have been surprised how easily you could hear voices across that river. You shouted over to the other side of the river and they shouted back. It is said that when George Whitefield preached in Third street, Philadelphia, one evening time, his voice was heard clear across to the New Jersey shore. When I was a little while chaplain in the army I remember how at eventide we could easily hear the voices of the pickets across the Potomac, just when they were using ordinary tones. And as we come to-day and stand by the river of Jordan that divides us from our friends who are gone, it seems to me we stand on one bank and they stand on the other; and it is only a narrow stream, and our voices go and their voices come. Hush! Hush! I hear distinctly what they say: "These are they who come out of great tribulations, and had their robes washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb." Still the voice comes across the waters, and I hear: "We hunger no more, we thirst no more, neither shall the sun light on us, nor any heat, for the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne leads us to living fountains of water, and God wipeth away all tears from our eyes."

And is the best remedy for the cure of all affections of the Throat, Lungs and Chest, such as Consumption, Colds, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Pain or Oppression of the Chest, Hoarseness, Spitting of Blood, and all Pulmonary Diseases.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED!

WE have the gratifying fact to know that it can be cured with GOOCH'S MEXICAN SYRUP. Tuberculous matter is nothing more than nourishment imperfectly organized. Now, if we can procure the organization of this food material so that through the process of electric affinity it may take its place in the system, we can cure the disease. This is just what this Syrup does. It at once stops the progress of the disease by preventing the further supply of tuberculous matter, for while the system is under its influence all nourishment is organized and assimilated. It thus controls Cough, Night Sweats, and all other symptoms of Consumption. Consumption is one of the most loathsome and terrible of all fatal diseases, and makes the life of the poor consumptive a hell on earth. Until recently that terrible disease has been considered an affliction beyond the reach of medicine; but a new era in the management of pulmonary diseases seems to be dawning upon the scientific medical world, and, since many distinguished physicians have acknowledged that consumption can be cured, few there are who attempt to controvert their opinion. To those singled out as victims to that fatal malady, we offer a remedy sure in its results to bring back health to their poor weakened frames and joy to the hearts of their friends.

Consumptives, because all other things fail, believe not that MEXICAN SYRUP will. Not a single sufferer need perish if he or she will take GOOCH'S MEXICAN SYRUP in time. A cough is unlike any other symptom of disease. It stands a consumptive's grave? Then make one more trial. This remedy is in the reach of everybody; it only costs 50 cents a bottle. Is your life not worth 50 cents? If so, make one more trial. Is there in your life limited to this world one more trial? Test the words, if only by one single bottle; and never give way to despair till you are certain there is no hope. It has cured thousands, and it will cure you. As we would plead with a friend to save him from taking his own life, so we plead with you to save yourselves from a premature grave. We positively guarantee a perceptible and continuous improvement when the medicine is faithfully and persistently used.

Below we publish a few certificates of genuine praise from those grateful for health restored. We have selected these from thousands which are now on file with us and ready for reference as proof of the merits of our medicine. We give the Post-office address, so any one desiring can write direct to the parties.

This medicine is manufactured by the CINCINNATI DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., 54 Main Street, Cincinnati, O., from a prescription of ANTONIA GARCIA, an old Mexican Doctor. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

IT SAVED HER LIFE.—Gooch's Mexican Syrup has accomplished a cure in this neighborhood which has astonished the people. A young lady, Miss Davis, was given up to die by her attending physician. She had Lung Fever. The doctor said she would die before morning, and advised her friends to discontinue his medicine, as they were doing her no good. Her parents had a bottle of your Mexican Syrup and Liniment in the house. They at once began to give the Syrup in doses one hour apart, and frequently bathed her chest with the Liniment. Before morning she was decidedly better, and, after using two bottles of each, she is almost as well as ever. It was almost like raising the dead, and has established the reputation of your medicine here. J. & J. N. SANDS, Trimble, Athens, Co., O.

We have had an Epidemic of colds and sore throat in our town. I cured one of the worst cases with your Gooch's Mexican Syrup and Quick Relief with four or five doses, using it alternately every four hours. R. B. WOLFE, Merchant, Bowersville, O.

Gentlemen:—Allow me to offer my unsolicited testimony in favor of Gooch's Mexican Syrup. I had a cough for about three years and was taken with a severe hemorrhage of the lungs. They said I would not live till morning. I commenced using your Gooch's Mexican Syrup, and it relieved me in about thirty minutes. I have used three bottles and it has cured me sound and well. Hoping this may be the means of cheering the hearts of desponding invalids, I am, yours obligations. REV. THOS. B. WARWICK, Scott truly, SHELBY CYRUS, White Springs, W. Va. Tuscn, O.

If not on sale at nearest dealer, will send two bottles, postpaid, on receipt of $1.00, to any part of the United States of America.

EARNIN, HER LIVING.—Gooch's Mexican Syrup has given perfect satisfaction in my family, and I can recommend it without hesitation whatever, as the best remedy for coughs, colds and all lung troubles. A young lady in my employ, who had been forced to quit work, and who had been given up to die by her friends, with consumption, has, by the use of this remedy, been restored to health, and is now at work earning her living, and enjoying health. R. M. FLEMING, Editor Piqua Journal.

Having suffered for the past two years with a very severe cough, and was unable to find anything to give me relief until I commenced using Gooch's Mexican Syrup, which I find acts incredulously with great promptness. FRANK ARNIM, Pension Claim Agent, Room 32, Temple Bar Building, Cincinnati, O.

I can sure Gooch's Mexican Syrup is the best medicine I ever heard of. My baby had been suffering with a cough for three weeks, and six doses of the Syrup cured it. JOHN DREFFER, Jr., No. 19 West Third Street, Covington, Ky.

Gentlemen:—I will not hide my light under a bushel, for I want the people to know what your medicine has done for me. For four years I have been afflicted with Asthma, and could not get anything to do me any good until I got your Gooch's Mexican Syrup. I took three bottles and it cured me entirely. I give you this, hoping it may be the means of saving some one from a horrible death and securing for you the gratitude and thanks of the afflicted. REV. THOS. B. WARWICK, Scott

Angora Goats in California.

I was on the summit of Tallac, nearly 10,000 feet in elevation, at sunset. I there found nearly 200 Angora goats camped for the night on rocks about thirty feet east of and below the summit. They were in full sight of Tahoe and the best views from the summit. There was fine, green mountain pasture, soft soil bedding and shelter down below them a mile or two, but they preferred the rocks of the summit and the keener air and magnificent mountain pictures. Their bed was nearer the stars, and they would have the very earliest sight of the morning sun. Four hundred of this breed of goats were, five years ago, every one killed by lightning near the same spot. They were the property of the same owner, Mr. Gilmore of Glen Alpine Springs. Many of them were pure or half pure breeds. The herd was worth at least $6,000. They were dead several days before they were discovered, so that not even their pelts were saved.

These goats are not herded; they take care of themselves altogether, and except for being salted—that is, supplied with salt to lick twice a week—they get no care or watching. They are shorn once a year and yield three to four pounds of mohair, which is worth fifty cents a pound. Mohair is used very largely for railroad car cushions. Seven years ago there were no mohair factories in the United States; now there are some forty of them. But for the disaster named Mr. Gilmore would now have a herd of about 2,000.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Herman Bengs has taken out a permit to erect an addition to his frame house on lot 52, Skinner's addition, to cost $100.

The rumor that Mr. P. J. Fallon penned the item in reference to his marriage, in yesterday's SENTINEL, is without foundation. Mr. Fallon is being congratulated on every hand.

A special train, conveying the passenger agents who have been in session at Chicago, will go east on the Pittsburg road Sunday evening. The party will take supper at the McKinnie house.

Mr. W. D. Page admits that his brutal opposition to the election of Councilman Webber was a mistake. He pays the Fourth ward representative a compliment in last night's issue. We congratulate Mr. Page on his conversion.

Mrs. Anna Schuler, widow of the late John Schuler, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her late residence, 214 East Jefferson street, aged seventy-four years. Funeral Monday at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral. Friends invited without further notice.

The funeral of the late Dr. Charles A. Schmitz occurs to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from his home on College street. Rev. Dr. Moffatt and Rev. J. C. Cromer will conduct the services. The pallbearers are John Cochrane, F. P. Randall, John Gilbert, W. H. Briant, H. C. Graffe and Benjamin Burgess.

Mrs. Robert C. Bell, of Douglass avenue, entertained yesterday evening, in honor of her guest, Miss Winnie Brady, the Miss Connie Wilder, Grace Guild, Bertha Maier, Grace Bass, Lottie Lowry, Gertie Worthington, Maude Nirdlinger and several others A most enjoyable time was the order of the day.

The inter-state commerce law will put long faces on the base ball clubs, showmen of all sorts and other people who have been heretofore traveling free or at low rates for no very obvious reason. The law prohibits the granting of free transportation to any person except the officers and employes of railroads.

The affairs of the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago road are taking shape. General Agent Scott yesterday issued a circular appointing the following officers: E. H. Scott, general agent; J. S. Goodrich, superintendent; Samuel B. Sweet, general freight and passenger agent; J. O. Boyle, auditor and ticket agent; John Hewitt, master mechanic, and C. E. Doyle, trainmaster, all having headquarters at Peru; P. A. Lynn, commercial agent at Indianapolis, and R. D. Clough, commercial agent at Michigan City. Other minor appointments are under consideration. The designation of the Indianapolis passenger agent is yet to be made. Frank Wade will continue to represent the Wabash at Indianapolis but will have no relations with the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago. The disposition of the Detroit line of the Wabash system is yet a matter of conjecture. The Wabash company has relinquished its hold on that line and it is thought that a traffic agreement will be reached whereby the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago will continue to run through trains from Detroit to Indianapolis. It is understood that under the Scott management the accommodations are to be maintained as far as possible and all local points and industries are to be encouraged.

Women and Their Feet.

"Women who pose as models have, as a rule, poorly shaped feet," said an artist to a reporter. "If their feet are not poorly shaped, they are apt to be out of proportion by being too small. The reason is obvious. Women are ambitious to have small feet and hands, and at an early age they begin to wear tight shoes. The result is that their feet are cramped and do not grow with the other members of the body. Of course, there are some professional models who began early in life and never cramped their feet with tight shoes. They have correct proportions. I speak generally of the mass of women who become models after they are eighteen years old. Women imagine if they have small feet and hands they have all that is necessary to give them a shapely appearance. A worse mistake was never made. Women who are large should naturally have feet in proportion. From an artistic point of view they look better. But you cannot make them think so.

A crusade ought to be waged against wearing tight shoes. The tight shoe, in the first place, cramps the toes all together, until they lose shape and become frescoed with corns. The foot doesn't get the free circulation of blood in it that it should have, and falls behind in growth. The big toe usually bears the brunt of the sin for tight shoes, and manages to have a large lump gather just where it joins the body of the foot. The Americans are more prone to wear tight shoes than the English women. The French, outside of Paris, are not devoted to the semi-barbarous habit either, and some of our finest models came from the provinces of France. The nobility are supposed to have small feet and hands, but that is an erroneous impression, as many noble families I could mention in England are noted for their large feet. To produce a race of perfectly shaped women a reform must be made in their shoes, even if we have to substitute the ancient sandal.—New York Mail and Express.

Policies amounting to $300,000 have been taken by the business men of this city in the past six months, thus showing their appreciation of the plan of the Provident Savings Life of New York.

LOOKING UP.

Police court affairs took a decided boom this morning from every standpoint but a financial one. Perry Noll, James Baily, John Flood, Wm. Crosby and Pete Carroll were booked for drunkenness and in default of $11.75 all of them were sent to jail.

Johnathon Refine, his wife, Susan, and daughter Cora, were out on a high old drunk. They closed their soaance at their rooms over Neunschwander's saloon, on Columbia street, in company with Ed Gorman and Adam Shelly. The orgies of the people are too vile for discription and the language they used was simply appalling. The daughter cursed her mother and the mother her child, while the drunken father made a disgraceful spectacle of himself, as related by Officer Humbrecht. The people were all sent to jail by Mayor Mubler and the curiosity of a lobby of young boys was appessed. Thus runs the story of sin and error.

CULINARY ART

And Other Household Work Taught in the Kitchen Garden.

A SENTINEL reporter had the pleasure of an interview with one of the teachers in the "Kitchen Garden," an institution which was organized some time since by a number of the most prominent ladies of Fort Wayne, for the purpose of instructing children in the different arts connected with the kitchen. It was indeed amusing to see the little ones, with their miniature wash tubs and boards, ironing tables, bread bowls, pans, dishes and everything used in a well regulated kitchen. They meet for instructions every Saturday morning and afternoon, at Anderson's hall, on Broadway, and the ladies are making extensive preparations for an entertainment to be given the latter part of this month.

RAILROAD WRECK.

A Broken Wheel Causes Two Coaches to Plunge Down and Embankment —Serious Injuries.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 12.—A south bound train on the Jacksonville and Southeastern railroad, broke a wheel yesterday while crossing a trestle two miles north of Girard, Illinois, and two coaches were thrown down an embankment of fifteen feet, one being embedded in the mud and water. There were about thirty passengers in the two cars, of which seven were injured.

State Senator E. Southworth, of Litchfield, Ill., was seriously injured internally.

Mrs. Tifft, of Jacksonville, aged and an invalid, was seriously and perhaps mortally hurt.

George Parks, of Girard, was injured internally, and is not expected to live.

L. M. Smith, trainmaster of the Wabash road at Litchfield; was badly cut in one leg.

G. E. Conrad, of Dorchester, hurt about head.

A. B. Wallace, of Litchfield, one whole side badly bruised.

All the wounded were taken to Litchfield, excepting Mrs. Tifft, who remained at Girard, she not being expected to live.

SHERMAN'S TRIP.

The Senator Denies That it Has Any Political Significance—Western Journey.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 12.—Senator Sherman said to a reporter yesterday: "I want you to correct an erroneous impression. While at breakfast this morning, I saw in the Washington Star a long article setting forth the object of my trip to Florida, and stating that it was purely a political trip. The fact is that I have not heard politics mentioned since I left Washington. We were tired out after congress completed its work, and made up a party and started down here simply for recreation. I am out of politics just now. I do not want politics to enter my head for two weeks. I will not say a word about politics until I return. Then I take up the political string, and will hold to it for some time."

CHICAGO, March 11.—A private letter from Washington says that after the return of the Sherman party from its southern trip, a tour of the west and northwest will be organized, and that the Ohio statesman will speak in the principal cities of Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin and possibly Minnesota.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Following are the weather indications:

Indiana, fair weather, stationary temperature.

POWDERLY!

He Proposes to Reorganize the Knights of Labor on a Great Plan.

PHILADELPHIA, March 12.—"Grand Master Workman Powderly was a very sick man at the close of the New York strike," said a prominent labor advocate yesterday. "He was still more cast down when in spite of his orders Knights of Labor attended the Cincinnati convention and the labor party came into substantial being."

"But won't he recover, now that the holy see has decided favorably to the Knights?" was asked.

"That was what I was coming to. He has had blow after blow, but he has had the good sense to see wherein lay the error that brought them upon him. The decision of the holy see has given him new life. As a result the Knights are to be recognized."

"On what basis?"

"On one that will make them the greatest labor body in the world—the only labor body that will be worthy of recognition. The withdrawal of trades unions has cut Powderly to the quick. They withdrew because, under the old plan, a hod-carrier was as apt to be selected to settle a Printers' union difficulty with its employers as a printer. Obviously hod carriers are not well posted on the subject of printing and publishing. The seceding of the unions largely depleted the Knights of their numbers and it took from them the most substantial man that they had. It not only took them away but they attached themselves to the trades and labor unions that grew through the secession out of the Central Labor unions and Trades' assemblies. The trades and labor unions threatened to absorb all the great trades confederations and eventually form a body larger and more powerful than the Knights of Labor."

"But what can he do?"

"Just this. He will reorganize the Knights into trade divisions, the head of each division to be a member of the general executive board. Each trade will [illegible]

JOHN C. NEW.

The Rumor That He was Stricken With Paralysis is Denied by His Friends.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 12.—Telegrams received at a late hour last night, by the friends of John C. New, contradict the statement made in the special dispatches from Washington to the effect that he was suffering from an attack of paralysis at Riggs house in that city. Mr. New is in good health and left Washington last night for Indianapolis.

Jewish Political Club.

CHICAGO, March 12.—What is probably the first denominational political body to see the light of day in this country has just been started in the Seventh ward of this city under a charter granted by the secretary of state. It is called the "Hebrew Political Club" and is composed exclusively of Hebrews in good standing in the local synagogues. It starts out with a membership of 125, and having no distinctive politics will support such candidates as are favorably inclined toward the Jewish race. Similar clubs are to be organized in all the wards of the city where Hebrew residents are strong, and it is thought that eventually the organization will not only be strong enough to exercise an important influence in local politics, but also to be the nucleus of a national movement to the same end.

AT REST!

The Remains of the Eloquent Divine Laid Away in Greenwood Cemetery.

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 12.—The remains of the late Henry Ward Beecher were taken this morning to the Greenwood cemetery receiving vault, where they will remain until the family select a lot for the final interment.

SPREADING.

The "Nypano" Strike Assumes Huge Dimensions—Protection Asked.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, March 12.—The yard and road crews on the Niles and New Lisbon branch of the "Nypano" struck this morning, stating they would not return until the existing troubles were amicably settled. The yardmen and roadmen on the Pittsburg, Cleveland and Toledo railroad asserted that if an order is not issued to-day putting on the third brakeman all will strike to-night, causing an entire suspension of freight traffic between Pittsburg and Akron, via Youngstown.

Superintendent Kimball, of the Pennsylvania company, this morning called upon Sheriff Walker and demanded protection.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Czar Shows His Cordiality to Emperor William—Count Mirandt Married.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 12.—The czar will send the Grand Duke Vladimir and Grand Duke Michael, together with a large suite, to Berlin on the occasion of Emperor William's birthday as a mark of his cordiality.

PARIS, March 12.—The religious marriage ceremony between Christine Nilsson and Count Miranda will take place at the Madeline to-day.

SOFIA, March 12.—A Russian, named Beloof, recently brought bands of Montenegrin desperadoes, numbering fifty each, into Sofia, with a view of creating an insurrection. The plot was discovered and Beloof and a portion of his followers decamped. The others were arrested and have confessed that they were paid to come and do what they were instructed to do. A list of the members of the government party was found in Beloof's lodgings.

RUSTCHUK, March 12.—Two more of the leaders in the recent insurrection have been sentenced to death and 125 other participants in the revolt have been sentenced to prison.

PARIS, March 12.—A sharp shock of an earthquake was felt throughout the city yesterday. For a time there was a general panic and hotels and the bourse were emptied of their occupants in a very few seconds. People were, however, soon reassured. It is found that many walls of buildings in various parts of the city were cracked by the quake.

RANGOON, March 12.—Robberies and incendiarism by Dacoits are increasing daily throughout the Burmah. One hundred men engaged in railway construction near Mandalay were recently compelled by Dacoits to retire to the capital for protection. When they returned to work it was found necessary to send soldiers to protect them. Ambushed Dacoits recently attacked a body of 270 troops belonging to the Madras infantry and killed and wounded several.

LONDON, March 12.—Snow storms prevail throughout England to-day.

MONTE CARLO, March 12.—The recurrence of earthquakes at different points in the Rivion has induced a fresh rush of frightened pleasure and health seeking tourists hither from Nice, Cannes and San Remo. All the hotels are again crowded.

INDIANA NEWS.

Late Notes of Interest From Various Points in Hoosierdom.

Samuel R. Conwell, an insane person, living near Rogersville, Henry county, left home on Friday morning an can not be found.

The Indiana and Michigan circuit o the American Trotting association will open in Terre Haute from June to the 10th inclusive.

Judgments aggregating $5,585 have been rendered again the Western hosiery mill at Connersville, and a receiver will probably be demanded.

Hon. G. W. Steel, member of congress, will hold a competitive examanition for a candidate to the Naval academy, at Marion, the 24th of this month.

Fernando C. Klein, editor and proprietor of the Rossville Journal, has been mysteriously absent from home since Wednesday of last week. His family and friends fear foul play.

The Presbyterians of Winchester will begin the erection of a new church in a few days. They have recently secured the services of Rev. Mr. Fowler, formerly of Warsaw, as pastor.

There is such a boom in mesmerism in Elkhart as to interfere with work in the public schools, and the school authorities have peremptorily ordered, under severe penalty, its discontinuance among pupils.

Roeser McClure; one of the ousted proprietors of the LaFayette Journal, and a force of men regained possession of that property by forcibly evicting J. K. Hill, the representative of H. L. Wilson, who had seized the property. In a scuffle a revolver was discharged, but no one injured, the bullet just missing Joseph Sprague. Mr. Wilson immediately filed papers for replevin, and the paper is now in the hands of sheriff, who, by the consent of the parties, issued the paper to-day. The postmaster, at the beginning of the trouble, was notified by each of the parties not to deliver mail matter to the other. He declined to deliver to either, and telegraphed to Washington for instructions. He was ordered to turn the mail over to a disinterested party, who is to deliver it. Charles F. Williams, editor of the Sunday Leader, was chosen, and now acts as special postmaster for the contesting parties of the Journal.

THE WHEEL.

Notes and Items of Interest For Wheelmen—True Tangent Spokes &c., &c.

John Hanna was the first wheelman to try a spin this week.

Louis Obuhouse will make a good captain. He is an excellent rider and a clever fellow.

The "Now Rapid" catalogue is before us, and its contents represent a handsome line of wheels.

Jack Kuhns has received a Foote's anti-header which he intends to use on his wheel this season.

Jesse Young will sell his fifty-two inch Standard and ride a Light Roadster of modern pattern.

Jesse Evans and Dave Caldwell are looking forward to new mounts. The boys are undecided yet, as to which "bike" is the best.

The fourth annual tour of the Indiana division, L. A. W., will organize at the Murdock hotel, in Logansport, at 6 a. m., Friday, July 8.

The Pope Manufacturing company have added to their Columbia bicycles a new double grip handle, and a saddle representing the "Victor" very much in appearance.

The American Athlete, Vol. 1, and No. 1, has arrived. It is edited in the interest of wheeling and other out door sports. Aaron & Wells, late of the Bulletin, are its managers.

Frank Lightfoot has put new cow horn handle bars and a pair of double-grip ball pedals on his Expert and says he is now ready for wind, sand, bad roads and steep hills.

Kekionga has another well written article in the Wheelman's Record of this week, but in it no clue is given as to his identity. A number of riders are accused, but none convicted.

Don't order your wheels in a hurry. Wait until you see the new Victor catalogue. It will be here some time next week. Harry Keplinger, agent for the Victor bicycles, will have a new 54-inch full nickle, light roadster, in about a week. Call on him at Keil's book store and see it. Finest wheel in the market.

As the riding season is almost here, would it not be a good scheme for some citizen who is friendly to the cause of cycling to offer as a prize a gold badge to the rider making the largest mileage for the coming season, the same as Mr. J. H. Bass offers to the Mystic Angler who catches the largest fish.

The Glee club met last Wednesday evening and had an enjoyable rehersal. A polka composed by George Loesch, entitled "Playing on a Bluff," was beautifully rendered by Messrs. Hanna and Bond. Dave Caldwell sang, "Looking for Sleepers Under the Table," and McClain and Thieme wound up the performance with the familiar duett, "A Broken Flush Was on Her Cheek."

There are some "croakers" who try to cry down Safety bicycles, but it is certain they have come to stay. Although yet in their infancy, the records made on them is a convincing argument to any one doubting the merits of geared up wheels. As to looks that is more a matter of custom. They certainly are more graceful than a tricycle and there are many heavy weight men, though willing to ride, would not take the chances of a header from an ordinary bicycle.

There is as much difference between the Tangent and true Tangent spoke, as there is between the direct and old Tangent spoke. From the fact that racing machines are built with Tangent spokes is evidence enough of the increased rigidity and strength in a wheel, and the same will hold good in road machines. All high authorities on cycles, give it as their opinion that eventually an high grade bicycle will be built without the Tangent or true Tangent spoke.

Louis Contilvre, while in St. Augustine, Florida, pedaled the ocean on one of the new water crafts known as a Marine bicycle. It is made of two slender air tight compartments, ten feet long, held together by three feet cross bars, propelled by crank action, and steered by handle bars like that of a bicycle. They are safe in very rough water and a speed of ten miles an hour can be obtained. Mr. C. was delighted with his ride, and will put one on the St. Joe river the coming summer.

Carl Peter Swain has become quite proficient as a bugler. This morning, Messrs. Evans and Caldwell, who are expert telegraph operators, stationed themselves at the corner of Wayne and Calhoun streets, while Mr. Swain took the club bugle and went out to White's addition, a distance of two miles, from which place he sent the following message by means of long and short blasts on the bugle, which was instantly translated by Messrs. Evans and Caldwell to read: "Fresh keg on tap; tell the boys to come out."

REHEARING DENIED

In The Smith-Robertson Lieutenant Governorship Case.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 12.—The supreme court has overruled the petition for a rehearing in the injunction proceedings of Senator Smith against Colonel R. S. Robertson, to decide the lieutenant governorship question, and this finally disposes of a case which has recently occupied much public attention. As is usual in petitions for rehearing, the opinion is written by the chief justice who at this time is Judge Elliott. Aside from reaffirming the former position of the court, that there was no jurisdiction, he touches only upon one point, which was raised in the petition, that being that, that as the injunction was granted by Judge Ayres in vacation, of his court there could be no jurisdiction. This, the opinion says, implies that a court in vacation has greater powers than a court in regular term—a position that is evidently untenable.

"There are no dissenting opinions" said by the judges, but with the opinion Judge Niblack sent down a lengthy document, which was entitled "Views of Judge Niblack." On account of the importance of the case, and the misapprehension that exists in the public minding regarding the license of the court, he says that he feels constrained to make the statement that he does. Then follows a lengthy review of the case, incidental to which is a discussion of the electorial commission of 1877, which he says was not a judical tribunal. He adds "Believing as I always have and still do, that the courts have nothing to do in the settlement of this matter, I have not examined the main question with that care and attention, which would enable me to promulgate any fitting expression of opinion. I have refrained from a formal expression of opinion, which might be urged against or brought in conflict with any action the legislature has taken or may take. As a citizen of the state and a member of the co-ordinate branch of the state government I stand ready to acquiesce in whatever that body may do. The present disorganized condition of affairs I can only regret. We have no power to relieve by an expression of opinion."

OFFICIAL PAPER COUNTY AND CITY.

SATURDAY, MARCH 12, 1887.

It has been demonstrated that platinum wire may be drawn so fine as to be invisible to the naked eye, although its presence upon a perfectly white card can be detected by the touch and can be seen by the aid of a small magnifying glass when the card is held in such a position that the wire casts a shadow.

It was supposed that bald heads were exhausted as targets for jokes and conundrums, but this odd little saying of a real little girl comes fresh from London. Her father has a small, round bald spot. Kissing him at bed time, she remarked: "Sloop down, posy, dear; I want to kiss the place where the living shows!"

One of the smallest oscillating engines in the country was made not long ago by a citizen of Baltimore, Md. It is about half as large as a collar-button, and is hidden completely beneath a child's thimble. Its bore is one-sixteenth of an inch, and its stroke one-eighth. The wheel, shaft, and crank weigh eight grains, the cylinder five, and the stand and pillar twelve grains, making the whole weight one penny-weight one grain. Run by compressed air, it makes three thousand revolutions a minute.

Abraham Gould, Jay Gould's brother, formerly lived in Salt Lake, and the Tribune says of him: "Many was the generous act performed by him while here. He had a fondness for surprising very poor people by unloading coal and chickens and turkeys and vegetables in their back yards, and when questioned not knowing anything about the affair. He was fond of assuming to be a man with a bad eye, who could not be approached, except through much red tape, when all the time his heart was as soft as a sick oyster or a boarding-house olive."

Senator Dunham, of the New York State Senate, enjoys the distinction of wearing the finest waistcoat in the State. It was imported by a friend from Vienna and was presented to the Senator on account of his beauty. The waistcoat is a pale olive color, with silk half moons and dancing figures woven in the cloth. And they say that when its owner makes a careful survey of himself in his mirror he remembers the tales about the handsome men of various ages with a smile that isn't out of sorts with itself or the smiler.

Gov. Taylor, of Tennessee, in a recent interview, said: "I notice that there are in prison a large number of children under 15 years of age. It is a shame that Tennessee should not have some place of refuge for these poor little creatures, and not place them among hardened criminals. Judges and juries should not send children to prison, and I shall deem it my duty to uphold the honor of Tennessee by pardoning them. I am confident I will benefit more by this step than by allowing them to remain in a school for crime. I have requested the wardens to prepare for me a list of the names and offenses of every person in prison under 17. They nor any other child will stay there while I am Governor of Tennessee."

Daniel Bedinger Lucas, who has been appointed United States Senator from West Virginia, was born March 16, 1836, in Charleston, Jefferson County, Va. (now West Virginia); was educated at the University of Virginia; studied law, and was practicing when the war began. In June, 1861, he joined the "Wise Legion," commanded by General Henry A. Wise, as his private secretary. He was defeated for Democratic elector on the Greely ticket in 1872, but was elected on the Tilden ticket in 1876, and again in 1884 on the Cleveland ticket. In 1876 he was appointed Regent of the West Virginia University, and in 1880 was appointed Judge of the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit. He has been a member of the State Legislature, and has published several volumes of poetry.

Among those converted during a recent revival in Huntingdon, Pa., was a young newsboy, whose disposition to cheat and swindle his customers was well known in that part of the town in which his beat was located. Having decided to become a Christian, the wicked newsboy went around to the persons who had incurred his hatred and begged their pardon. Then he sold out his interest in a roller-skating rink, which he and several men had purchased, because he believed it helped to aid old Satan in his ungodly plans, and also disposed of his Sunday newspaper list, believing that the Sabbath required his services in more ennobling work. Having done this, he went to the Methodist church, presented himself at the altar, and was taken into the fold.

Take it This Month.

Spring rapidly approaches, and it is important that everyone should be prepared for the distressing effects of the changing season. This is the time to purify the blood and strengthen the system, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which stands unequalled as a spring medicine, and has endorsements of a character seldom given any proprietary medicine. A book containing statements of the many wonderful cures it has accomplished, will be sent upon application to C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 doses one dollar.

A BUREAU FOR PUFFS.

HOW PEOPLE ARE SUPPLIED WITH NEWS ABOUT THEMSELVES.

Authors, Actors and Statesmen Paying Men to Read for Them—Gould, Field and Vanderbilt—Laws and Statistics. Some Curious Orders.

Every editor knows the man whose attention has just been called to an article in the paper. He is very numerous. Doubtless editors have long wondered if there were not some people in the world who devoted their time to calling the attention of other people to newspaper articles. Perhaps this first suggested to a New York journalist the idea of establishing a bureau for the accommodation of persons who desire to have their attention called to what the newspapers say about them. At all events he did start such a concern and it is now running in full blast. He employed men to read the papers, for folks who don't have a very high opinion of the press never look at the papers and don't care what the papers say about them, and these men keep a lot of boys on the jump all day pasting and mailing the clippings. The list of subscribers is long and includes people in every profession and line of business. The bureau receives all the daily, weekly and monthly publications of this country and the principal papers of foreign countries, and the readers go through about 2,000 every day.

ACTORS AND AUTHORS.

Actors, of course, are patrons of the bureau, and although they are notoriously vain their vanity has a business side. Newspaper fame is a part of their stock in trade, and notices have an actual value to them. The more an actor is talked about the better his chances of getting engagements. And then an actor wants to know what the critics say of his work in order to be able to correct his faults. If he brings out a new play it is important that he should know how it is received. Artists, who are peculiarly sensitive to criticism, want all the notices of their pictures and information about sales, exhibitions, galleries and new collections. Authors are liberal patrons of the bureau. Some of them want personal notices and criticisms, but most of them want articles on topics useful to them in compiling new books.

A great many congressmen discover through the bureau how their votes, speeches and bills have affected public opinion in their districts. Foreign ministers get important information about the countries to which they are accredited, trade relations, etc. During the Cutting imbroglio, Senor Don Romero, Mexican minister, was supplied with 1,820 articles on the affair, and so obtained a complete epitome of American, English and French newspaper opinions which were very valuable to him. The civil service commission is a good customer and gets much interesting reading matter, not always of a gratifying nature.

Jay Gould is profoundly indifferent to newspaper talk and hasn't the slightest desire to see what is said about him. But his partner, Washington E. Connor, is a subscriber, and if the little King of Wall street does not know everything that is said by the press and public speakers about him and his doings it is because he can't read. Cyrus W. Field has his attention called to articles that interest him and doubtless has accumulated a mass of valuable information about movements, revolutionary history, dynamite and patriotism. When William H. Vanderbilt died the bureau furnished to the family 6,000 obituaries and editorials on the millionaire, and, strange to say, there were no rough or ill natured ones in the lot, which must have been a pleasant surprise to the family.

LAWS AND STATISTICS.

City, state and national departments are supplied with decisions, new laws, statistics, comments, etc., and legal reports and other matters relating to practice are furnished to a long list of lawyers. Railway corporations are supposed to be impervious to public opinion, but all the principal lines are down on the books for "newspaper attacks," legislation and everything affecting the railroad business. With most of the subscribers it is pure business. Manufacturers, contractors and builders want to know where work in their line is contemplated and what improvements are made in methods of doing work. A young doctor wants to know in advance about big gatherings, like Odd Fellows' conventions, public banquets, swell receptions and weddings, so that he may get in ahead of other dealers and supply the champagne. If the king of Dahomey thinks of reorganizing his army some manufacturer of rifles wants to hear about it in time to send an agent over there with samples of guns.

After the Charleston earthquake Maj. Powell, of the United States geological survey, wrote to the bureau: "Clip all criticisms, theories and opinions of value touching the recent earthquake." Two other subscribers, one a famous astronomer, telegraphed to the bureau to add "earthquake theories" to their previous orders, and a queer collection of crankisms he must have got. One subscriber wanted all death notices promptly, and located himself near the bureau to get them as soon as printed in city papers. As soon as he got a death notice he would rush around and try to sell a new kind of mourning card to the bereaved relatives. An enterprising undertaker also subscribes for death notices.

SOME CURIOUS ORDERS.

The bureau gets some very curious orders, of which the following are examples: "Curious surgical operations," "The intelligence of dogs," "Fashion articles describing new dresses on the stage or at balls, or describing the styles of new buttons introduced," "Bank robberies," "Burglaries," "Socialistic fomentations which may lead to riots," "All libel suits," "Appearance of cholera and contagious diseases," "Utah legislation and Mormonism," "Large forest fires," "Woman's suffrage," "Love, courtship and marriage," "Engagements of prominent society people," "Liquor traffic on the Congo and Niger or any part of Africa," "Impure water supply of cities and towns," "Railway development in China," "Chess," "Precious stones," "Water filtration," "Amateur acting," "Bartholdi's Liberty," "Conundrums" and "Grindstones."

Such a bureau is the whispering gallery of journalism. The obscure country paper editor has readers with a dashing editorial on grinding railway monopolists, and when the editor takes his summer vacation and writes to the superintendent of a big road for a pass all over the country he wonders why he doesn't get it. The explanation is that the president of that road has had his attention called to everything said about his company in the public press.—New York Cor. Philadelphia Times.

The inhabitants of Old Town, Me., are mostly Indians. The chief offices in the city are occupied by red men, who take as much interest in such affairs as their white brethren in neighboring cities.

A DUDE IN TRAINING.

Trying to Clothe Himself with Muscle. Under the Barber's Hands.

It was my privilege the other day to see a dude, not exactly an natural, but without any of the garnishings that would lend him up and set off his peculiar points to their best advantage. It was an awful sight and it shook my belief in natural selection and the progress of the race until the chimneys all tumbled down and the plastering came off. It was in a place where the poor little creatures go to get themselves improved by gymnastic exercises and where I saw all the secrets of their toilets. You needn't ask me how I happened to be there or how I managed to see all I did see. Just read and be grateful.

Well, about the dude. He was developing his form. And it needed it. I've seen girls pad, who looked about as much like their dressed selves as a Thanksgiving turkey all ready to be carved looks like the strutting lord of the barnyard that he once was. But that was nothing to the transformation there had been in this creature since I had seen him coming down Fifth avenue a few minutes before. He had on the usual attire for athletic exercises and true sea-saving away at some kind of an arrangement for developing the muscles of his arms and chest. His poor little lead pencil neck looked as if a sudden whiff of air would snap it in two, and without the support of his big white collar his ears loomed out like wings. The excuse for clothes that men wear at that kind of work was supposed to fit him skin tight, but they hung around him in such folds and wrinkles, like drapery, that it relieved all my embarrassment in looking at him. His arms were bare, and they were the thinnest, skinniest, sallowest, most worthless looking pair of arms that ever grew. Let him tug away at his best and he couldn't get up a bulge of the biceps bigger than your thumb. He gave it up after he had pulled and bobbed around and bulged out his eyes and got red in the face for about five minutes.

"Weally, now, you know, I'll have to stop. I'm beastly blown."

The attendant suggested that if he found it too difficult perhaps he'd better not try that form of exercise any more. But he shook his head sadly.

"No, I'll have to keep on, for, weally, don't you know, my tailor has to put so much padding in my clothes it makes me tired to carry it. I must keep up this beastly thing."

They wanted him to take a cold sponge bath, but he shook his head in terror and declared it gave him a chill to think of it, so they took him away into seclusion to rub him down with almond oil instead, and proceeded to dress him.

Later he went to a baber who makes a specialty of beautifying the swells. There they trimmed his eyelashes, pulled out the scanty hairs between his eyebrows, rubbed his face all over with some kind of gentle cosmetic, curled his poor little pretense of a mustache with an iron, gave his head a perfumed shampoo, extracted some hairs that came down too low on one side of his forehead, spent an hour shaping and polishing his finger nails, and when he was finally ready to come out from their hands what do you think they gave him to take home? It was a machine that looked as if it might be first cousin to a clothes pin, and the fellow was to wear it on his nose at night. He thought his nose was too big for the rest of his face, but if he could only endure it a little his features would "weally be quite weguwlah," and so he was going to put this contrivance on at night.—Clara Belle in Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Bird's Eye View of the Earth.

If we imagine an observer contemplating the earth from a convenient distance in space, and scrutinizing its features as it rolls before him, we may suppose him to be struck with the fact that eleven sixteenths of its surface is covered with water and that the land is so unequally distributed that from one point of view he would see a hemisphere almost exclusively oceanic while nearly the whole of the dry land is gathered in the opposite hemisphere. He might observe that the great oceanic area of the Pacific and Antarctic oceans is dotted with islands—like a shallow pool with stones rising above its surface—as if its general depth were small in comparison with its area. He might also notice that a mass or belt of land surrounds each pole, and that the northern ring sends out to the southward three vast tongues of land and of mountain chains, terminating respectively in South America, South Africa and Australia, toward which feebler and insular processes are given off by the Antarctic continental mass.

This, as some geographers have observed, gives a rudely three ribbed aspect to the earth, though two or three ribs are crowded together and form the European mass or double continent, while the third is isolated in the single continent of America. He might also observe that the northern girdle is cut across, so that the Atlantic opens by a wide space into the Arctic sea, while the Pacific is contracted toward the north but continues with the Antarctic ocean. The Atlantic is also relatively deeper and less cumbered with islands than the Pacific, which has the higher ridge near its shores, constituting what some visitors to the Pacific coast of America have not inaptly called the "back of the world," while the wider slopes face the narrower ocean, into which, for this reason, the greater part of the drainage of the land is poured.—Popular Science Monthly.

Hint From a Watchmaker.

"People spend a great deal of money needlessly for having their watches cleaned," said a Maiden lane jeweler the other day. "A gentleman living in New Jersey called here one day last week and said his watch had stopped unexpectedly and then gone on again the moment he had left the store. He wanted it cleaned, as he feared that if it stopped again he might lose a train. Most jewelers would have taken the watch, cleaned it and charged him $3 or $4 for the work. The proper thing to do if a watch acts in that way is to take note of the hour, minute and second when it stopped. Then a jeweler can see just where the dirt that has stopped the works lies and can remove it by fastening down the main spring and taking off the balance wheel. Otherwise he should have to clean all the works, not knowing which particular part needed cleaning. I told my customer this, and he had only a trifle to pay for having his watch put in order. If the watch had really needed cleaning all over it is not likely that it would have gone on again after stopping."—New York Sun.

Hairpin Statistics of New York.

The hairpin statistics of New York city are among the most interesting and will furnish food for thought even among the most frivolous. It is estimated that some 345,000,000 hairpins are sold annually in this city, and giving half of this amount to women outside of the city who do their shopping here, leaves each member of the fair sex in Gotham just 345 hairpins a year. Then when all the ladies, little school girls who wear their hair flowing or braided in pigtails, and the hundreds of young ladies who prefer shingled locks are counted out, almost double that amount is given each woman with long back hair.

Where do the 172,500,000 hairpins go every year? One would expect to find them scattered all over the town, yet how seldom are they encountered on the sidewalk, and the weekly sweeping at home fails to gather but a half dozen or so, even though a hundred may have been lost in that same house.—New York Journal.

A Great American Accomplishment.

It is quite a trick to jump off a train going along say at thirty miles an hour, and the Americans take a pride in cultivating dexterity in this trick. It takes considerable practice before it can be done successfully. The way to jump is always with the train and on the left hand side of the latter, letting the right foot rest on the step and the left foot swung from the step. Then jump so that the left foot will touch the ground first and the right foot immediately follow it, so as to be able to run. Some of the men jump from the middle of the train or the front, but most of them go to the rear car and jump on that if they fall they will not roll under the cars. A correspondent says: "The best man I ever saw, and the only man who could hold his feet and stop himself without running at all, was Charles Phillips. He could jump from a train running thirty-five miles an hour and stop without running a foot."—Court Journal.

To Toughen Paper.

In order to render paper as tough as wood or leather a plan has been devised which, it is said, effectually accomplishes that purpose, namely by combining chloride of zinc with the pulp in the course of manufacture. It has been found that the greater the degree of concentration of the zinc solution the greater will be the toughness of the paper, and that it is thus serviceable for making boxes, combs, etc.—New York Sun.

Don't Get Caught

This spring with your blood full of impurities, your digestion impaired, your appetite poor, kidneys and liver torpid and whole system liable to be prostrated by disease—but get yourself into good condition, and ready for the changing and warmer weather, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It stands unequalled for purifying the blood, giving an appetite and for a general spring medicine.

C. H. Way, of Georgia, has been appointed consul general of the United States at St. Petersburg.

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I thought at no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla. "Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." Mrs. G. E. Simmons, Cohoes, N. Y.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." B. F. Miller, Boston, Mass.

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK! High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters. GREEN B. RAUM, U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24, 1884.

Dear Sir—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The Parents—Good Templars,

Milton, Del., Feb. 10, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully, Rev Mrs. J. H. ELLGOOD.

Sepio, M. Y., Dec. 1, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Bubtist church here and an educated physican. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. Rev. E. R. WARREN.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; and his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. Official, Chicago, Ill.

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your Cuticura Remedies, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your Cuticura Remedies a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James R. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Every thing known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the Cuticura Remedies, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. Crawford.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your Cuticura Remedies for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. We have the worst case of Scrofula I ever saw cured by the use of five bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, Cuticura, and Cuticura Soap. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal remedy.

Choking Catarrh

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of a nightmare; clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the cold in the head, and the loss of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with these weird, strange noises. How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to prevent the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of Sanford's Radical Cure, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each package contains one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent and an improved inhaler, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

BAPTISM OF SINNERS

Rev. Talmage Delivers a Forcible Sermon on Baptism.

BROOKLYN, March 6.—This is sacramental day in the Brooklyn Tabernacle, and the sermon is preached at the reception of 247 new members, making 600 received during the present revival, so that the communicant membership now is 4,051. The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., the pastor, gave the right hand of fellowship to the new members, and baptized about ninety. The audience sang:

Bless be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love.

There was a great arch of flowers over the pulpit, containing the words: "I believe in the communion of saints." Dr. Talmage took two texts: I Chronicles, xxiii, 5: "And four thousand praised the Lord;" and Exodus, xii, 14: "This day shall be unto you for a memorial." He said:

When week before last the communicant membership of this church passed into the 4,000, now reaching 4,051, the first part of my text came to my mind, and I bethought myself what a grand thing it would be if the 4,000 of our communicant membership would, like the 4,000 of the ancient Temple, make it their lifetime business to praise the Lord. Let them all take harp and timbrel and anthem and doxology!

The allusion of my second text is to the Passover, which commemorated the deliverance of the children of Israel on the night when the destroying angel spoke through the land of Egypt, destroying the enemy but saving the Israelites, because on the doorposts of their dwellings was sprinkled the blood of a lamb. To-day we come to celebrate a grander Passover, all peril going away from our soul at the sight of the sprinkled blood of the Lamb of God on the doorposts of our hearts. Christ, our Passover, sacrificed for us. "This day shall be unto you for a memorial."

The sacramental Sabbath, whether it comes in an American church or an English chapel, or a Scotch kirk, is more impressive than any other Sabbath. Its light is holier, calmer, sweeter; its voices more tender, its touch is softer; its memories are more chastened. The fruits of the Christian life suddenly ripen like orchards on the hill fronting the south. The wine of the holy sacrament seems pressed from the grapes of celestial vineyards, and the bread broken seems to drop from the hand of Him who parted the loaves for 5,000. We walk to the church of God with more thoughtful face and with quieter step. The jubilant songs of other Sundays are struck through with pensiveness and are all a-tremble with tears; and when at the close of the service, at the door we shake hands, it is with a more cordial grasp, because we feel thrilling through our body and mind and soul the great doctrines of Christian brotherhood; and our minds go back to our forefathers celebrating the sacrament in times of persecution in Scotland among the Highlands; commemorating the dying love of Christ, while they were pursued of their enemies, pouring the wine into rough wooden cups, dipping the waters of baptism from the mountain rock, until one day they heard the voices of their enemies coming up the hill, and the pastor cried out: "Oh, Lord, the Shepherd, have mercy on the sheep!" and instantly there was a roaring heard as of great floods, and sure enough a cloud had burst and there were great torrents running down the mountain side that whelmed their foes in the sudden wrath. What a deliverance it was for them on that sacramental day! Oh, that on this sacramental day the cloud of God's mercy might burst and one sing be whelmed and our souls be saved! This is the amethyst of days. This is the pearl of days. This is the diamond of days. This is the day of days. Among the ten thousand million ages of the past, we expect to enter. After awhile our names will be taken off the church books, or there will be a mark in the margin to indicate that we have gone up to a better church and to a higher communion. Our Father is not going to let his children remain in the dust. The grave is no place for us to stay in. "The trumpet shall sound and the dead shall rise." The Lord shall descend from heaven with a shout and the voice of the archangel and we shall rise. The white robe in which they put us to our last slumber must get whiter. Oh, the reunion of patriarchs, and apostles, and prophets, and of all our glorified kindred, and of that "great multitude that no man can number!" Our sorrows over; our journey ended. It will be as when kings banquet. And, just as the snow of winter melts and the fields will brighten in the glorious springtime, so it will be with all these cold sorrows of earth, they shall be melted away at last before the warm sunshine of heaven.

While I present these thoughts this morning does it not seem that heaven comes very near to us, as though our friends, whom we thought a great way off, are not in the distance, but close by? You have sometimes come down to a river at night-fall, and you have been surprised how easily you could hear voices across the river. You shouted over in the other side of the river and they shouted back. It is said that when George Whitefield preached in Third street, Philadelphia, one evening time, his voice was heard clear across to the New Jersey shore. When I was a little while chaplain in the army I remember how at evenside we could easily hear the voices of the pickets across the Potomac, just when they were using ordinary tones. And as we come to-day and stand by the river of Jordan that divides us from our friends who are gone, it seems to me we stand on one bank and they stand on the other; and it is only a narrow stream, and our voices go and their voices come. Hush! Hush! I hear distinctly what they say: "Those are they who come out of great tribulation, and had their robes washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb." Still the voice comes across the waters, and I hear: "We hunger no more, we thirst no more, neither shall the sun light on us, nor any heat, for the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne leads us to living fountains of water, and God wipes away all tears from our eyes."

GOOCH'S
MEXICAN

OF WILD CHERRY, TAR, GLYCERINE, ETC.

WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

And is the best remedy for the cure of all affections of the Throat, Lungs and Chest, such as Consumption, Colds, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Pain or Oppression of the Chest, Hoarseness, Spitting of Blood, and all Pulmonary Diseases.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED!

WE have the gratifying fact to know that it can be cured with GOOCH'S MEXICAN SYRUP. Tuberculous matter is nothing more than nourishment improperly organized. Now, if we can procure the organization of this food materials so that through its processes of elective activity it may take its place in the human system, we can cure the disease. This is just what this great remedy does. It at once stops the progress of the disease by preventing the further supply of tuberculous matter, for while the system is under its influence all nourishment is organized and assimilated. It thus controls Coughs, Night Sweats, and all other symptoms of Consumption. Consumption is one of the most insidious and terrible of all fatal diseases, and causes the life of the poor consumptive a hell on earth. Until recently that terrible disease has been considered an affliction beyond the reach of medicine; but a new era in the management of pulmonary disease has come to the discerning upon the scientific medical world, and, while many distinguished physicians have acknowledged that no consumption can be cured, a few more are willing to attempt to controvert their opinion. To these singled out as victims to that fatal malady, a remedy sure in its results to bring back health to their poor wasted frames and joy to the hearts of their friends.

Consumptives, because all other things fail, believe me that the MEXICAN SYRUP will. Not a single sufferer can be cured in a day or a week, but by persistent use a permanent cure will take place. Don't be discouraged if you do not take one more trial. This remedy is in the reach of everybody; it only costs 75 cents a bottle. In your life not worth 10 cents? If so, make one more trial. It may prove the most valuable one more trial? Try the truth of our words. It only by one single bottle, and never give up as long as there is life there is hope. Just what this wonderful remedy has done for others it will do for you. As we would plead with a friend to save him from taking his own life, so we plead with you to save yourselves from a more slow process. We positively guarantee a perceptible and continuous improvement when the medicine is faithfully and persistently used.

Below we publish a few certificates of pounding praise from those grateful for health restored. We have selected these from thousands which are now on file with it and ready for reference as proof of the merits of our medicine. We give the Post-office address, so any one desiring can write direct to the parties.

The Mexican Remedies are manufactured by the CINCINNATI DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., 24 Main Street, Cincinnati, O., from a prescription of ANTONIO GARCIA, an old Mexican Doctor. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

IT SAVED HER LIFE.—Gooch's Mexican Syrup has proved itself a cure in this neighborhood which has astonished the people. A young lady, Miss Davis, was given up to die by her attending physicians. She had Consumption in its worst form. A friend advised her to try Gooch's Mexican Syrup, and she would do before incurable, and advised her friends to discontinue his medicine, as they were doing her no good. Her friends procured a bottle of your Mexican Syrup and Liniment in the house. They at once began to give the Syrup in doses one hour apart, and frequently bathed the chest with the Liniment. In two days from the time she decidedly better, and after using two bottles of each—Syrup and Liniment—she was almost like raising the dead, and is to-day as healthy looking a lady as there is in Clarke county. Yours truly, J. A. SANDS, Trimble, Athens Co., O.

We have had an Epidemic of colds and coughs in this section of country, and one of the worst cases with your Gooch's Mexican Syrup and Quick Relief with him so far down, going to Mexico. Recommended it to me. R. H. WOLFE, Manager Express Office.

Gentlemen—Allow me to offer my unsolicited testimony in favor of Gooch's Mexican Syrup. I had a cough for about three years. Last year I was taken with a severe hemorrhage of the lungs. They said I would not live till spring. I commenced using your Gooch's Mexican Syrup, and commenced using your Gooch's Mexican Syrup, and in fifteen days from the time I commenced using the first bottle and it has cured me entirely and well. Having the use of the lungs of my other lung, and consider myself entirely sound. I am a young man, and consider myself entirely sound. I am a young man, and consider myself entirely sound. Angora Goats in California.

I was on the summit of Tallac, nearly 10,000 feet in elevation, at sunset. I there found nearly 200 Angora goats camped for the night on rocks about thirty-feet east of and below the summit. They were in full sight of Tahoe and the best views from the summit. There was fine, green mountain pasture, soft soil bedding and shelter down below them a mile or two, but they preferred the rocks of the summit and the keener air and magnificent mountain pictures. Their bed was nearer the stars, and they would have the very earliest sight of the morning sun. Four hundred of this breed of goats were, five years ago, every one killed by lightning near the same spot. They were the property of the same owner, Mr. Gilmore of Glen Alpine Springs. Many of them were pure or half pure breeds. The herd was worth at least $8,000. They were dead several days before they were discovered, so that not even their pelts were saved.

These goats are not herded; they take care of themselves altogether, and except for being salted—that is, supplied with salt to lick twice a week—they get no care or watching. They are shorn once a year and yield three to four pounds of mohair, which is worth fifty cents a pound. Mohair is used very largely for railroad car cushions. Seven years ago there were no mohair factories in the United States; now there are some forty of them. But for the disaster named Mr. Gilmore would now have a herd of about 2,000.—San Francisco Bulletin.

The burned district of Knoxdallville is to be rebuilt this summer.

The season approaches when a few precocious gentlemen plant sea shells in their ears, misjudge public sense and with an air of oppression discover that there are "deep murmurings of discontent" against officers who chance to belong to the opposition party.

The council concluded consideration of the revised ordinances last night and passed them. THE SENTINEL will issue 100 copies in book form and all the enactments having penalties attached, must be published for ten days in a daily paper. A committee was instructed to procure bids.

Fort Wayne is booming all along the line. Since last Saturday City Clerk Rockhill issued permits for new buildings footing up $7,565 and the recorded real estate sales in the same period amounted to $23,573. This is not a bad showing for the first of March and it is evidence of solid growth.

A dispatch from Appleton, Wis., says that Maude Granger was married there Tuesday to a gentleman whose stage name was R. Germaine. His real name is William M. Baxter, he is from New York, has been in Miss Granger's support for two seasons. He is remembered in Fort Wayne as Maude's very ardent chaperone.

The inter-state commerce law will put long faces on the base ball clubs, showmen of all sorts and other people who have been heretofore traveling free or at low rates for no very obvious reason. The law prohibits the granting of free transportation to any person except the officers and employes of railroads.

The affairs of the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago road are taking shape. General Agent Scull yesterday issued a circular appointing the following officers: E. H. Scott, general agent; J. S. Goodrich, superintendent; Samuel B. Sweet, general freight and passenger agent; J. O. Boyle, auditor and ticket agent; John Hewitt, master mechanic, and C. E. Doyle, trainmaster, all having headquarters at Peru; P. A. Lynx, commercial agent at Indianapolis, and R. D. Clough, commercial agent at Michigan City. Other minor appointments are under consideration. The designation of the Indianapolis passenger agent is yet to be made. Frank Wade will continue to represent the Wabash at Indianapolis but will have no relations with the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago. The disposition of the Detroit line of the Wabash system is yet a matter of conjecture. The Wabash company has relinquished its hold on that line and it is thought that a traffic agreement will be reached whereby the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago will continue to run through trains from Detroit to Indianapolis. It is understood that under the Scott management the accommodations are to be maintained as far as possible and all local points and industries are to be encouraged.

Mrs. A. Biewend, of Boston, arrived last night to attend the funeral of her father, the late Dr. Carl Schmitz.

Mr. C. F. Hartmeyer, representing H. B. Taylor, of Boston, is in the city. Mr. Hartmeyer is a son of Mr. Fred Hartmeyer, the pioneer candy manufacturer of Fort Wayne, who conducted the Union store. Mr. Hartmeyer, sr., is now a resident of Lancaster, Pa., and his son is here greeting his old friends.

Charity M. Nicholson, of Lafayette township, sues her step son, John Leonard Nicholson, to recover $5,000 damages for slandering her character. The complaint is penned by Colerick & Oppenheim, and it sets forth that young Nicholson charged the woman with stealing hay from him and with being an immoral character. This she denies and asserts that his slanders have injured her good name and damaged her character to the extent of $5,000. The case is booked before Judge O'Rourke.

Women and Their Feet.

"Women who pose as models have, as a rule, poorly shaped feet," said an artist to a reporter. "If their feet are not poorly shaped, they are apt to be out of proportion by being too small. The reason is obvious. Women are ambitious to have small feet and hands, and at an early age they begin to wear tight shoes. The result is that their feet are cramped and do not grow with the other members of the body. Of course, there are some professional models who began early in life and never cramped their feet with tight shoes. They have correct proportions. I speak generally of the mass of women who become models after they are eighteen years old. Women imagine if they have small feet and hands they have all that is necessary to give them a shapely appearance. A worse mistake was never made. Women who are large should naturally have feet in proportion. From an artistic point of view they look better. But you cannot make them think so.

A crusade ought to be waged against wearing tight shoes. The tight shoe, in the first place, cramps the toes all together, until they lose shape and become frescoed with corns. The foot doesn't get the free circulation of blood in it that it should have, and falls behind in growth. The big toe usually bears the brunt of the sin for tight shoes, and manages to have a large lump gather just where it joins the body of the foot. The Americans are more prone to wear tight shoes than the English women. The French, outside of Paris, are not devoted to the semi-barbarous habit either, and some of our finest models come from the provinces of France. The nobility are supposed to have small feet and hands, but that is an erroneous impression, as many noble families I could mention in England are noted for their large feet. To produce a race of perfectly shaped women a reform must be made in their shoes, even if we have to substitute the ancient sandal.—New York Mail and Express.

Policies amounting to $300,000 have been taken by the business men of this city in the past six months, thus showing their appreciation of the plan of the Provident Savings Life of New York.
